

Nielsen Boycott Of Sun Revealed -- Planner Talks

Supervisor Mel F. Nielsen of District II has successfully imposed an economic boycott on The Sun Newspapers by withholding virtually all county legal advertising from the publishing firm since the first of this year, it was revealed this week.

And, said Thomas Heaton of the county planning department, the change from a 25-year-old practice "is an inconvenience to the people involved in (The Sun's) circulation area."

"It has been an historical concept to try to place legal notices in geographical areas affected by the county business," Heaton said, "but there seems to have been a change in policy."

Papers involved are the Lafayette Sun and Orinda Sun, which circulate in two of the most populous areas in District II.

The county planning director

MEL NIELSEN
Not alone?

was asked why zoning and planning notices, that are so important to the area, are no longer printed in The Sun.

HEATON REVEALED that Nielsen, on or about the first of the year, directed him expressly to place county legal advertisements in newspapers other than The Sun.

Nielsen's move came within days of announcement of The Sun's opposition to the re-election of the supervisor in an editorial column by Sun Editor-Publisher Herman Silverman.

(The Sun made its views on the subject of the boycott known in an editorial which appears in this edition.)

The planning official indicated that legal advertisements for the Lafayette-Orinda-Moraga area should be carried by The Sun on the basis of simple geographical qualifications.

ASKED IF Sun service on legal advertising in previous years had been satisfactory, Heaton replied, "Oh, yes—completely satisfactory."

But, he said, departments must comply with the orders of the board, whether or not department officials believe there is disservice involved.

Reports indicated that a similar direction had gone from Nielsen to all other county departments concerned—a finding since confirmed by Nielsen himself.

"The real crisis here is that you are the only newspaper in certain areas of District II," Heaton explained.

A GLIMPSE at possible motives in the issue came June 11 when Supervisor Nielsen told

Money Pressure Won't Stop Sun

(AN EDITORIAL)

Last December 28 The Sun announced its opposition to the re-election of Mel Nielsen as supervisor, District 2, at the next election, June 1964.

Shortly thereafter Contra Costa County government virtually stopped publishing its various legal notices in Sun newspapers.

This county "legal advertising," which is required by law, has appeared in The Sun for over 25 years. Citizens of the community during these years have been informed of county actions affecting them by reading the legal notices in their own hometown paper. This is the reason why the notices are published—to inform you of zoning applications, government hearings, new laws.

It has long been the policy of our county government to publish its legal advertising in the hometown papers of the communities which are affected by the notices. This policy has not been changed, except in the case of The Sun.

Until the first of the year, Nielsen named The Sun to print the legal notice applying to this area, whenever the question arose on the board of supervisors. It is customary that the board will vote yes to the specific newspaper named by the supervisor concerned. The vote is only a formality.

Since The Sun announced its opposition to him, Nielsen has named papers other than the Sun. He has also directed the various county departments to withhold almost all of their legal notices from this paper.

Referring to notices on zoning and planning, Thomas Heaton, county director of planning, said this week, "I realize this change is an inconvenience to the people involved in your area. You ought to talk to Nielsen about this." Heaton said he had been directed by Nielsen to change papers "about the first of the year."

In Martinez at the Hall of Records, June 11, Nielsen told The Sun's associate editor that this newspaper will never get another legal notice if he (the editor) continues to play the game the way he's been doing—or words to this effect.

THIS WAS PART of the conversation in which Nielsen asked why The Sun was opposing his re-election. Nielsen emphasized that Sun reporters have been "real fair with me." He asked the associate editor to arrange a meeting with The Sun editor (Herman Silverman) to discuss these matters. The editor has since talked to Nielsen but did not discuss legal notices.

As you know, legal notices are paid advertising. The Sun will lose several thousand dollars this year by not printing county legal notices.

Supervisor Nielsen, a long-time reader of The Sun, certainly should know that The Sun's editorial policy will not be swayed by economic pressure.

THE GAMBLING interests and some of our county big wheels tried bribes, then threats, even strong arm tactics during the 1950's.

Some years ago a bank withdrew its advertising because The Sun refused to print certain news releases. The Sun lost substantial revenue for a few years, until the bank resumed its advertising.

Years ago two separate groups of businesses, at different times, tried to change The Sun's editorial policy by threatening to withdraw advertising. Neither was successful but both are now solid friends of The Sun.

We have hesitated to reveal Nielsen's action against The Sun, but we believe it should be a matter of public record.

You will note that Nielsen stopped most county legal notices in The Sun only after this newspaper clearly stated its opposition to his re-election. (For this statement, see the December 28 "Under the Sun" column reprinted on today's editorial page.)

The revenue from county legal notices is a very small part of The Sun's total income. But even if it were a much larger amount, we would feel the same way.

Of more importance is the fact that thousands of people will be deprived of reading important legal notices in The Sun, as they have done for so many years. Most of these will continue to be covered by news stories, even though some details (legal descriptions, etc.) cannot be repeated. It is unfortunate that the very purpose of publishing legal notices (to inform you) is being nullified by Nielsen's actions.

In the past The Sun has strongly opposed the actions (and re-election) of two other supervisors. These men never once threatened The Sun economically or in any other way. And they knew, as Nielsen knows, that the columns of The Sun are open to them.

Before it was printed, this editorial was shown to Nielsen, so he could issue an accompanying statement.

Other Supervisors Deny Mel Nielsen's Claim

Two county supervisors Wednesday would not back District Two's Mel Nielsen in his claim that he was not alone in the legal advertising boycott placed on The Sun early this year.

Nielsen, shown advance copies of an editorial on the advertising embargo, said the decision to ask county departments to avoid The Sun in placing county legal ads "was not my decision completely."

He said the matter was "discussed by the board of supervisors after several weeks of inaccurate reporting of county operations in Sun news stories."

THIS TOOK place, the supervisor said, "just after Silverman took that blast (an editorial opposing Nielsen's reelection) at me."

Board Clerk Mary Smith, County Administrator J. P. McBrien, Thomas Heaton of county planning and board members were present, he said, and claimed that board members concurred in the informal action creating the order to Heaton to boycott The Sun.

Supervisors Edmund Linscheid and Tom Coll, however, would not corroborate Nielsen's statements.

ED LINSCHIED
'No such act'

"I don't recall any such discussion," Coll said flatly.

Linscheid, contacted in Pittsburg Wednesday, pointed out that "in the first place there is no such thing as 'informal action' by the board of supervisors."

And, he said, "I know of no formal action taken by the board in this regard."

CLERK MARY SMITH advised The Sun that there was, in fact, no formal board order in the matter.

Heaton, recipient of the boycott order, said that the clerk was not present or involved when Nielsen spoke to him. He, too, did not know if Nielsen had discussed it with the entire board.

He said he thought Nielsen had perhaps discussed the matter with McBrien "and may have better job," he stated.

Big Surplus in Fire Stations Claimed; Hint at Unification

NEW BOARD MEMBERS—Richard M. Bartle (left) and Dr. John Boulware go through the official business of taking over their position as members of The Orinda School District's board of trustees. Joseph L. Sheaff, district superintendent, lends a pen for the men to sign their oath of office. The two newcomers replace Herbert Waterman, who was not re-elected, and Philip Bush, who retired.

Extra Fire House Within Every District: Van Nord

Sweeping changes in fire district administration throughout Contra Costa may bring marked tax savings and lower fire insurance rates for county residents, the board of supervisors was told Tuesday.

An appeal by the Mt. Diablo Fire Protection District to be allowed "to conduct its own affairs without interference from county departments" backed off the complainants when supervisors began hinting at plans to unify fire protection districts.

And veiled charges were leveled at the present multi-district system when County Buildings Project Coordinator Robert Van Nord claimed there are surplus stations in almost every district in the county.

CITED AS exemplary of cutbacks possible was a recent Central Fire District finding that seven rather than 12 stations would be needed for ultimate development of its Alamo-Walnut Creek-Pleasant Hill area.

And other Sun sources singled out the Lafayette Fire District as one which does not need the number of stations (four) it now has.

Van Nord explained that new fire insurance formulas developed last year by the National Board of Fire Underwriters and applied here by the Pacific Fire Rating Bureau render several stations surplus as far as insurance rates are concerned.

Deferring specifics until completion of a master fire protection plan now being considered, Van Nord said only that almost every district has at least one excess or misplaced station today.

He said Central Fire planning had enabled that district to maintain a constant tax rate despite heavy growth—and that residents of the district could expect a reduction in fire insurance rates on the next premium charges.

INDICATIONS OF support for unification of county fire protection services—or at least for greater central control—came from three supervisors and the Contra Costa County Taxpayers Association.

Supervisor Mel Nielsen of Lafayette, early proponent of such a move, said he still considered central control a wise and money-saving proposal.

He said he concurred with County Taxpayers representative Paul Huey in his suggestion that the county establish a county-wide fire commission and a county fire marshal.

"Fire protection is a multi-million dollar business—and the only county business operated without formal central control," Huey said.

In late developments yesterday, Supervisor Tom Coll pressed the board to allow a $10 monthly clothing allowance to the Mt. Diablo Fire Protection District, according to Supervisor Mel Nielsen of Lafayette.

Nielsen said he and Board chairman James Kenny fought the move and succeeded in delaying the proposal for further study.

The supervisor from Lafayette indicated that such a unique allowance would throw out of line whatever consistency between fire districts now exists.

OF THE FIVE autonomous districts in the county, he pointed out, only two have had an election since 1956.

"And in the recent Lafayette fire commission election—supposed to be a hot issue—about six per cent of the voters turned out," Huey claimed.

Supervisor Edmund Linscheid said there was "no question" but that a larger governmental area and agency for fire protection would result in savings a smaller agency could not realize.

Regarding Mt. Diablo Fire's implied ultimatum—"leave us alone or take us over completely"—Linscheid said he thought he could predict an immediate "take-over" vote if one were called for Tuesday.

He suggested, however, that the matter be continued until August 30 for a study by the board and its advisors.

MT. DIABLO's complaints, presented primarily by the commission's vice-chairman, Joe De Rosa, centered around a $2600 inspection cost for the district's recently-constructed $43,000 Oak Grove Road Station.

De Rosa said the cost for full-time building inspection, borne by the taxpayers, was excessive.

He implied that such a close watch on district building activities was typical of interference in all district affairs by various county departments.

Van Dorn argued that the inspection fee was within the customary six per cent of total cost.

Talk Tonight On New Bank

A meeting of the Orinda Association's planning committee and Don Emmons, representative of the consulting architects will be held at 8 p.m. at the home of John W. Cutter, 36 Charles Hill Circle, Orinda.

He also said that possible parking problems, as well as plans for the 20-foot strip between the post office and the proposed bank will be discussed. The chief concern was expressed over the windowless wall that would face the post office.

Postmaster Laura Mallory stated that the "blank" wall would destroy the beauty of the wooded setting now enjoyed by postal patrons.

The Orinda Beautification also suggested that the new building might tend to destroy the crossroad's "parklike setting."

Oakland Asks BARTD to Change Mind About SF

Oakland's city council Tuesday night asked the four Alameda directors on the Bay Area Rapid Transit District Board to demand a reconsideration of the board's decision to locate its temporary headquarters in San Francisco.

East Bay officials were shocked when three of the Alameda directors voted with the four San Francisco representatives to approve a San Francisco site July 2.

All three Contra Costa directors voted for an Oakland site. They were joined by one Alameda director.

BARTD DIRECTORS will consider a contract to lease the former San Francisco News building on July 18.

At the July 2 meeting, directors of BARTD agreed to move somewhere in the East Bay after the designing stage is over.

The temporary headquarters in San Francisco will use about 2½ floors of the Old News building at 814 Mission.

An East Bay site in the Marchant plant on San Pablo Avenue on the Oakland-Berkeley-Emeryville line was the other site being considered by directors July 2.

TERMS OF TWO Alameda County directors on the BARTD board will expire this year.

Arnold C. Anderson of Castro Valley has his term expire in November. He was appointed by Alameda County supervisors.

The term of Clair W. MacLeod of Piedmont expires in October. He was appointed by the Alameda County Mayor's Conference. MacLeod's law office is in San Francisco.

The third vote from Alameda for San Francisco was cast by Sherwood Swan of Oakland whose term expires in November, 1965. He was appointed by supervisors.

Sign Request Turned Down

The board of adjustment of the County Planning Commission denied a request July 3 in Martinez by Ad-Art to eliminate the prescribed 10-foot setback law.

The 25-foot sign was to be built on a 2.38 acre parcel fronting on the southwest side of Orinda Way and the southeast side of Camino Sobrante.

Just One Fire Engine Boys, Not All of Them

Chief Allen Winsor of the Orinda Fire District is planning to paint one of his fire engines yellow.

Contrary to a report in an Oakland daily newspaper which stated that Winsor was going to change colors on all 10 of his trucks, he is only going to change a "pilot" model from the traditional red in September with approval of his budget.

THE CHIEF'S reason for the move is to make the trucks more visible during the night hours.

"Tests have proven conclusively that red is one of the poorest colors to be seen at night. Chrome yellow is one of the best, and we feel motorists will have a better chance of seeing our trucks if we paint them that color."

The Orinda Fire Department also plans to use yellow turnout coats for the same reason.

However, contrary again to the report of the Oakland paper, Winsor plans to replace the black coats with yellow ones only as the old ones wear out.

CHIEF JAMES SWEENEY of Oakland said of the move, "If I could get money that easily, I could find a better use for it by buying more equipment." But he had been told the erroneous report.

Moraga's only yellow truck is that color so it can be more easily spotted from the air when fighting brush fires.

Chief Al Baits of Moraga said, "We have no desire to have any of the other trucks painted yellow."

So possibly the old American tradition of red fire engines is being destroyed as the Oakland paper claimed.

But not as fast as they reported.

Potluck Fare . . .

CATSUP, ANYONE? Not for the Dramateurs' who are drawing blood for their forthcoming "Stalag 17" opening July 19 . . . Vials of the real stuff are being used to bring reality to the bloodier scenes in this knock-down drag-out drama.

Fisticuffs & Cuss Words are the order of the play & Bill Lawson portraying Barracks Huffy, the barracks chief, will be lucky if he's in one piece by preview night. Those rehearsals have been rigorous, esp for cast members who work all day. And slay all night?

LAWSON'S wife Elaine Jay went around her South Trail neighborhood giving fair warning when she & Bill started rehearsing at home. She cues him in on the rantings & ravings a la barracks-style. But all's fair in love & war & everything is okay on the Lawson homefront. If any further-away neighbors are wondering about the wordage wafting across the otherwise serene summer night.

The fellow playing the part of Kurt Kasner did so well in the movie version is a Sam Cohen who manages to upstage Kasner, he's that good & for real.

UP AT WOODMINSTER, Orinda's Ken Wahn is singing & acting the poet's part in Song of Norway & for a real romantic evening, you can't beat this theater series through the summer.

We saw Janet Blair in Melodyland's "South Pacific" offering at Berk. Community Theater but after the Mary Martin-Ezio Pinza one, this fell flat, esp w/ the finale—Too home-towny w/long dragged-out curtain calls, compliments & kisses all over the place.

TOSSED GREENS: Gobs of golfers on the greens these late "summer" eves . . . A purple pom-pom perched atop a poodle passenger riding through the Village . . . the Channing Kilburns driving their horse onward & giddapward to another horsey show . . .

Poultry, Anyone? A mammoth straw rooster bag, the import from Hong-Kong carryall on the arm of Hazel (Imports By) Wilcox. She opens shop late summer at the handsome new Plaza Center in Lafayette.

You wanna bet those Jameses, Walt & Esther, have been practicing up while nobody was looking? Both came in first place at Orinda Park's Tule paddle race across the pool. It was nice to hear Charlie Kersten at the mike as M.C. With as many kids as he has he probably doesn't get much of a chance to get a word in edgewise . . .

DANISH DISH: . . . Marge Tarp reporting to Laverne's for her usual hair appointment, was assigned to Miss Nielsen, former hairdresser at Segreto de Bellaza (I never COULD spell that, could you?) BUT, anyway . . . Marge & the danske Miss Nielsen got gabbing over the goo & shampoo w/Miss Nielsen inquiring of Mrs. Tarp if she were Danish. "No," said Marge, "but married a Dane." Marge who traveled in Europe last year w/Fred & family, asked Miss Nielsen if she knew Jutland? "Oh, yes," said Miss Nielsen. "I'm from Ribe right near there & what's more, you're not the first Mrs. Tarp whose hair I've done." Small World wonder was the discovery by the two women that the other Mrs. Tarp was Fred's grandmother who died during the war.

BAKED ALASKA: Another kind of a story that's like a very special dish is to learn that our legal eagle Frank Newman, Dean of law at U.C.'s Boalt Hall, subbed for a lady pianist at a genuine sawdust-floored salon during his recent sojourn to Fairbanks, Alaska. The part that really kills me is that the lady was a wild flower gardener whose hands were very tired. So our gallant Newman took over the keyboard. (I have a feeling that the NYorker mag could somehow embellish that one a bit but I've been in a jam all day putting up plums & peaches & everything around here is sticky, thoughts & typewriter included.)

When Isabel Heller jingled, I burned one batch . . . & right now & here, dear, I'll thank you, Billie Bowles, for your crisp watermelon pickles. Now if they'll just get down to Two Cents paper, I'll check out your fine recipe.

We have some more on the Dean Newman but center-front first for his son Ralph & Jeff Brody. We hear from "Smokey" (you know Smokey!) that the two boys were responsible for turning in the first call for that upper El Toyonal grass fire which would have really wrecked havoc that warm & windy day.

MAIN DISH: . . . NOW, if Newman will promise to tell the truth, the whole truth & nothing but, he'll have to admit he was recently elected to the board of directors of Federal Home Loan Bank, a government corporation. The reason he was in Alaska is that the group has a policy of meeting in different states just to "keep an eye" on things financial. Fairbanks is a long way from a Shattuck Ave. Savings & Loan but you can't beat it, accdg. to Frank who was immensely impressed by everything up there & interviewed the pres. & vice-p. of the Univ. of Alaska, "a tremendous operation that extends 2,000 miles inward-outward making our Berk. campus look like peanuts, but No law school."

Engineers Ready to Begin Work on Laf. School TV

A television system for seventh and eighth graders of the Lafayette School District will likely be operational by the first of the year, The Sun learned last week. The first step will begin soon.

All 10 schools will be fully equipped for the 1964-65 school year, making Lafayette a Northern California "pioneer" in the field.

In a maximum of 20 working days this summer and fall a team of engineers under Glen Pensinger of San Jose State College will make a TV study for the district, then supervise drawing up of the actual contract which will make the system a reality.

Dr. Francis Ebert, superintendent, said the contract will include the studio (probably in the district office, equipment, wiring of classrooms and monitors.

THE ENGINEERS, working for $100 a day, will make all the plans for the system—similar to an architect—according to Ebert. They will then assist in putting the contract out to bid and in awarding the contract.

The $100,000 in bonds authorized by the school board to pay for TV are in the hands of the county waiting to be sold, Ebert said.

The engineering crew will go to work any day now, according to Ebert.

The board has also approved the hiring of a technician for the TV system and the 1963-64 budget calls for $8000 to pay him.

TWO FOREIGN language teachers will become the "actors" of the Lafayette School District TV system during the second half of the coming school year.

There will be no need for additional personnel to replace these TV teachers, according to Ebert. The TV system had the support of four members of the board.

Mrs. Helen Brattain, who will retire from her post with two years to go in her term at the end of August, did not vote on the matter.

Dr. Ebert is tremendously "enthused" about getting the TV program in his district. He told The Sun he is eagerly anticipating its arrival.

Hats Off To...

Les and Don Harlander speeding the seas . . .

HOIST A COLORFUL FLAG, please, in honor of brothers Les and Don Harlander, who are aboard their boat "Isobar" heading for Hawaii in the TransPacific Races.

THE TWO ORINDANS are competing in the international yacht race with their 45' boat, a sturdy sloop with a sleek racing hull that belies the fact it has such spacious accommodations—enough to sleep a comfortable dozen.

Years of planning have gone into the Isobar, the second boat designed by the native bay area brothers. Don, a mechanical engineer and Les, a naval architect, sent the boat's specifications to Hong Kong where the cruising craft was constructed. It was shipped over on a Japanese freighter and arrived stateside two days after Christmas making it a "good-sized present" for the nautical-minded men.

While the Isobar and its skippers and crew took the "time lead" in their competitive class early this week, wives June (Mrs. Les) and Jean (Mrs. Don) made final plans to fly to Hawaii where they'll meet their husbands to celebrate the sailing however the outcome.

Also in competition in the race is the Tycoon, the brothers' first 39' boat. They built it in an Orinda backyard and copped second place in that class in the same race two years ago. Tycoon is now under another owner's sailing skill in the Trans-Pacific crossing.

To Don and Les, the backyard boat builders, Ahoy, there! We're all pulling for you!

Lafayette 'City' Legal Map Should Be Ready Soon

Lawyer Art Robson told The Sun last week that the legal description of the proposed boundaries for the City of Lafayette would be ready this week-end.

This is the first legal step in the incorporation proceedings.

As soon as the Downtown Property Owners Association has the legal description in its possession, Robson will prepare an incorporation petition.

Before this can be circulated within the proposed boundaries of the city, however, the association must ask the board of supervisors for "permission to circulate the incorporation petition."

The legal description for the proposed city will include mainly what is known as the "downtown" area of Lafayette.

Robson said this requires 25 signatures. He said this will take about a week to do after the description is received.

While this is going on, he said,

It will take a few more weeks for the board to act, he said, the association will meet to set up its incorporation campaign.

July 4th Orinda Tourney Won by Baker-Steinbach

The 37th Annual Orinda Country Club Invitational was won last week by the team of Dr. Ed Baker-Steinbach with a score of 61-80-65-186.

This tournament is played over a three-day period, and is a best ball handicap. Defending champions Don Doten and Harvie Ward got lost in the shuffle, and finished far down the list.

Al Scollard-Cy Donaldson entry with 62-61-64-187 finished one stroke back of the winners in the runner-up position.

Bill Calhoun - Hoppy Hopkins with 65-60-63-188 were in third place.

Fourth went to Bill Jaques-Zack with 66-62-61-189. Bill Hanford-Don Texdahl, 62-63-65-190 were fifth.

A three-way tie of Bob Hunter-Don Norman, 63-64-64-191; Frank Brunk Jr. - Homer Hayward, 65-60-66-191, and Bill Higgins-John Joy, 63-66-62-191, developed for sixth place.

Tenth place went to the team of Mel Colwell-DuFosse, 67-65-61-193.

The Livin' Is Easy

TO ILLUSTRATE the point of ideal suburban living, here is the family of illustrator Joe Cleary. Commuting problems and living by the clock are non-existent for the youthful crew-cut artist who lives and works from his Sleepy Hollow home on Tarry Lane at the bottom of Sandhill Road.

Currently under way is a new studio addition to the ranch-style home where Joe will continue his career in the field of commercial illustration as well as his own pursuit of painting in oil, watercolor and casein.

A native Bay Area, Joe collected scholarship honors from Fremont High School to study at the California College of Arts and Crafts.

He spent his summers drawing and painting at Mills College sessions.

FAST becoming a regular with the Saturday Evening Post (he has six story illustrations chalked up to date), Cleary was appointed by the government last summer to illustrate for a collection of U.S. Air Force paintings. The dividend here on his drawing talents was a six-week tour of Japan.

The San Francisco Bohemian Club's traditional Grove party starts this week but member Joe will miss the all-male foray. He has work to do and will stick close to home.

He is a member of the San Francisco Illustrators Club, the San Francisco Society of Illustrators and the East Bay Art Association. His signature graces editorial illustrations in Standard Oil's quarterly bulletin as well as national advertising spreads and his own personal prowess with the paint brush has won him top honors in various shows including three first prize awards in State Fair art exhibits.

BERKELEY-bred and schooled Marian admits her artistic creations are limited strictly to home, garden and sewing for herself and the two children—Erin 4 and one-year-old Michael.

"It's so nice to have a man around the house" might well be her theme song—"we find it a wonderful life" and there are days when that ideal existence becomes a absolute Utopia. Father joins the family for lunch at Sleepy Hollow Pool, takes a dip and then leisurely gets back to his office — "the drawing board." Envious?

Orinda Shoots for American Legion League Lead

Orinda's American Legion entry, currently riding with a four-game winning streak, can sweep into first place this weekend with victories over El Cerrito and Richmond.

Trailing Richmond by a game, Orinda plays El Cerrito tomorrow at Miramonte, and Richmond here, Sunday.

Orinda's win streak started when they swept a double-header from El Sobrante on July 4th. Pete Boyle allowed 11 scattered hits, but kept the El Sobrante nine well contained, as Orinda won, 4-3.

In the nightcap, Orinda belted out a 6-2 decision.

STEVE THAMAN throttled the El Sobrante nine with only two hits. Thaman had a double to go with the day's efforts. Kevin Benson was two for four at the plate to lead the Orinda hitters.

Saturday's scheduled affair with Brentwood was forfeited to Orinda.

After going scoreless for six innings against Danville, the Orinda nine erupted for three runs in the seventh, and 10 in the eighth to win, 13-0.

Boyle was again the winning pitcher. Dave Texdahl, Neil Pearson, Bruce Nickerson and Kevin Benson all had three hits for the day.

Pearson has sparked the team in this drive with some outstanding defensive play.

Assessor Is Vets' Friend, Jury Says

The county assessor's office has publicized its laxity in checking veterans' tax exemptions and has failed to use procedures legally available to it to cut down abuses, the Contra Costa County Grand Jury charged Monday.

"The basic cause of the widespread abuse of the veteran's exemption must be identified as the assessor's office and the personnel in that office during the period from World War II right down to the present," Taxes and Assessment Committee Chairman Robert Kahn said.

No single person could be responsible for the present situation, Kahn added, but said that his committee "is convinced that if the present personnel wanted to correct the situation they could."

THE ALLEGEDLY willful encouragement of abuses has cost the county and other tax-supported agencies here "many millions of dollars of revenue," Kahn stated.

Basic causes, Kahn said, are:

1. Public statements of personnel in the assessor's office that stress the fact that no checking is done by that office—thus indicating that a perjured statement will not be detected.

2. Failure by the assessor's office to use procedures legally available to it.

WHILE COUNTY Assessor E. E. Wanaka could not be reached for comment, his assistant, A. W. Glendenning, said the problem was not uniquely local and involved a large "gray area" left by lack of court precedent.

"The assessor has a limited authority in this field," Glendenning told The Sun Monday.

His duties, Glendenning said, are limited to checking the basic eligibility (as veterans) of those persons making sworn statements regarding personal property in support of their exemption claim—and then checking those few—"a small minority"—who are determined to have perjured themselves in these statements.

THE AMOUNTS which the alleged abuses may have cost the county in past years are indicated by the sharp drop in exemptions claimed—an 11 per cent drop—is unequalled in recent years preceding the jury probe.

The decrease from 32,322 to 28,519 exemptions claimed—an 11 per cent drop—is unequalled in recent years preceding the jury probe.

In 1960, for example, there were 33,151 claims. This dropped to 32,849 in 1961, and then to 32,322 in 1962.

SUN SOURCES indicate that the 3800 exemptions would have cost the county approximately $380,000.

Glendenning said the exact amount was difficult to estimate because of differing tax rates throughout the county.

He also said he had "no idea" whether or not a similar decrease could be expected during 1963-64.

"The grand jury's activities have had a considerable effect on the recent decrease," Glendenning conceded.

The investigation of vets' claims will continue under the county auditor and district attorney even after the present jury is discharged.

Kahn told The Sun that his committee was satisfied with this move—and that members of the group would continue to work with the auditor and district attorney in an ex officio manner after the present jury is discharged.

MORE DETAILED examples of laxness in the assessor's office cited by the jury included:

1. Allowing a veteran to file his first claim in person, appearing before the assessor or a deputy—but continuing his filing year after year without further questioning.

2. "This procedure by itself creates the atmosphere (since the veteran has been told that affidavits must be accepted if signed and will not be investigated) for the veteran to file a perjured affidavit year after year," Kahn claimed.

3. Lack of proper training in the administration of the veterans' exemption program for staff in the assessor's office.

SUCH HAS BEEN the case since 1945, the jury claims, and "only the assessor can correct this situation."

3. Inadequate exemption claim forms which "stand as evidence of the ineffective manner in which this program has been administered."

The assessor, the jury claims, defends his one-shot questioning of exemptions as an economy.

"He says," Kahn stated, "that with over 32,000 affidavits accepted in 1962, he does not have the staff to handle affidavits in person."

He further argues that personal appearance each year would work a hardship on the veterans," Kahn continued.

But, the chairman insisted, the board of supervisors must recognize that saving payroll dollars in the assessor's office is a false saving if the loss of tax revenue is materially greater than the payroll savings."

IN A JOINT statement, the committee held that the assessor has never clearly explained this saving "versus lost revenue" situation in his budget requests.

"And it is the further opinion of this committee," the statement went on, that it has not been set forth by the assessor because he does not desire to administer the veterans' exemption program so as to minimize the number of improperly granted exemptions."

TO COUNTER the alleged laxness of the assessor, the jury recommended that:

1. Veterans be required to appear in person to file the affidavit more frequently.

2. All veterans should be required to file in person each year so as to insure proper inquiry as to other assets.

2. The assessor should make provisions so that veterans can file affidavits at convenient times and places.

THIS SHOULD include, the recommendation continues, temporary locations at various points in the county besides Martinez.

The assessor should immediately start a program of instruction for all personnel working with veterans' exemptions to insure that each person is thoroughly familiar with the provisions and interpretations of the law.

All talks, the jury said, given to outside organizations that will touch on the subject of veterans' exemptions to insure that each person is thoroughly familiar with the provisions and interpretations of the law.

All talks, the jury said, given to outside organizations that will touch on the subject of veterans' exemptions should be thoroughly reviewed in advance—and should be given by qualified personnel.

4. The assessor should avail himself of the powers under the law to require information beyond that included on the standard affidavit form.

Although the form will normally be more satisfactory, the jury believes that the increased number of personal filings will result in more cases where supplemental information will be necessary before the exemption can be approved or disapproved.

Pay Hike For County Employees?

Whether or not Contra Costa County's 2900 employees will receive salary increases in the 1963-64 fiscal year will not be decided until Tuesday.

The matter was on the agenda for this week's Tuesday meeting but supervisors put off any discussion.

RECOMMENDATIONS from civil service commission, county unions and from J. P. McBrien, county administrator, were heard yesterday morning.

Yesterday the board of supervisors approved the recommendations of the civil service commission on salaries by a split 3-2 vote after heated discussion.

Supervisor Mel F. Nielsen, District Two, told The Sun he argued against the move, claiming that at least nine classifications demanded further study.

He said he was supported by Supervisor Joe Silva who criticized five of the recommendations.

The commission recommended that the county grant $250,000 in raises and $110,000 in time and half overtime.

It suggested two and one-half to five per cent increases for 132 classes involving 658 employees. RAISES of seven-and-one-half to 10 per cent were urged for several employees.

Union representatives have asked for five per cent hikes for all county employees and are also in favor of the overtime proposals.

Hygienist Retires After Four Decades

One of California's first dental hygienists, Mrs. Elizabeth E. Barney, retired after more than two decades of distinguished service with Contra Costa County, recently.

Mrs. Barney was issued the second license to practice dental hygiene in the state of California. Her full span of service covers more than 42 years.

She first started in dental hygiene after receiving her degree from the University of California in 1921.

Mrs. Barney started working for the Oakland public schools in 1921. In 1930 she was employed part time by the Martinez schools and the health department of Contra Costa County. She was married in 1930.

A resident of Walnut Creek for the past 22 years, Mrs. Barney is widely known to several generations of Contra Costans through dental health education efforts.

Triggered For Death

Twelve-year-old Glenn Montgomery, currently awaiting a formal hearing over the shooting of Terry Parsons, 11, Lafayette, admitted to sheriff's authorities Wednesday that he loaded the double-barrel rifle which killed his playmate.

According to Detective Joe Walsh of the sheriff's office, young Montgomery appeared "most apprehensive" as to what was going to happen to him while in his own words he described just how the shooting took place.

The gun in question was a double-barrel 22-caliber/410-gauge shotgun with a double trigger, one triggered to fire the rifle barrel, the other the shotgun.

CONTRARY to other reports, the Montgomery youth explained that he inserted a bullet into the rifle chamber. Then, while he was sitting in a chair in the living room, he pointed the lethal weapon at the Parsons boy intending to fire the empty shotgun barrel, police said.

But he pulled the wrong trigger.

Terry Parsons, who was standing just outside of the Montgomerys' glass-paned door, was struck in the eye. He collapsed and fell to the ground mortally wounded.

Upon seeing what he had done, Montgomery reportedly cried out, "I shot my best friend; my friend, my buddy."

PARSONS was rushed to Kaiser Hospital in Walnut Creek, where surgeons worked three hours in an attempt to save his life.

Young Montgomery was taken into custody on investigation of discharging a firearm carelessly and negligently and was kept in Juvenile Hall pending his release to his parents.

Contrary to belief, the youngsters had not been playing at the Montgomery residence, but in fact the Parsons boy had been "egging" Montgomery on, police said. The rest is a matter of record.

WORKMEN finishing a swimming pool at the Montgomery home heard the shatter of glass and came upon the scene, where they tried to comfort the victim.

Hiway Patrol Warns Drivers

With California highways carrying large numbers of vacationing motorists, Highway Patrol Commissioner Bradford M. Crittenden this week warned against fatigue.

"Frequently vacationers attempt to push too far in one day. They are driving on the fringe of exhaustion by day's end."

"Last year, 212 drivers who were fatigued or apparently asleep were involved in fatal accidents in California and 3439 such drivers were involved in injury accidents."

THE COMMISSIONER pointed out that a "sensible pattern to follow is that spelled out by law for drivers of vehicles designed or used to transport persons for compensation."

"These persons cannot drive a vehicle more than 10 consecutive hours, nor more than 10 hours spread over a total of 15 consecutive hours. Thereafter, the driver cannot operate the vehicle again until eight consecutive hours have elapsed."

The commissioner also offered these tips to avoid fatigue:

- "Make frequent stops. Walk around for a few moments, stretch, and, if possible, take a short nap to prevent the possibility that you might doze at the wheel."

Solitary in the Cottage: Neglected Kids Are 'Caged'

By WALT WRIGHT

Solitary confinement in "the cage" and another isolation room at Juvenile Hall was cited this week in a young girl's claim that neglected children are treated as delinquents by the county probation department.

Her candid comments about the county's regimented home away from home for court wards came as Probation Officer John Davis prepared to deliver a report on the much-criticized facility to the county board of supervisors next Tuesday.

And, like an earlier account of a delinquent girl's plight, it came largely as the result of the work of crusading volunteer worker Mildred Alexander, one of Davis' loudest critics in recent weeks.

"SALLY'S" STORY bore another resemblance to earlier reports. As she recounted her experiences to this reporter, Supervisor Mel Nielsen, Mrs. Alexander and her mother it was an effort to remember that she had been placed in "Edgar Cottage" for no crime of her own.

Sally was more fortunate than some of her fellows. She was in "the cage"—a nine by nine foot room walled with heavy wire mesh on one side—for only eight hours for playing hooky from an "outside" school.

"And then 24 hours in the other room. It's nicer. No wire."

"One neglected girl was locked in that room for 10 days. They let you out every other night or so to take a shower. But otherwise they don't open the door except when meals come in."

Young Sally's claims corroborate at first hand the charges that the criminal detention atmosphere spreads from Juvenile Hall proper to the theoretically separate unit for neglected children.

"IF IT DIDN'T of itself she said, counselors encourage it. "Some of them kept saying that if we didn't behave they'd send us to the delinquent section for good. Some kids were sent into the hall while I was there."

What sort of home do taxpayers provide for kids who have no home?

"The whole place is filthy up there, the dirty mops, dust—and nobody bothers to pick anything up. Boys from the delinquent section come in to clean and mop, but it doesn't help much."

"They were the ones that kept teaching the little four-year-old boy dirty words. So he'd go up and say them to the counselor. Sometimes they'd give him a swat or lock him up, sometimes they'd ignore it. He was mentally retarded."

It's kind of forced on you. I almost got into a couple of fights because I wouldn't talk that way."

"COURSE YOU know about the crowding. There's room for 17 in the cottage, I think. There were 60 there when I was there."

"After a while you want to give up. There's about 30 counselors there and five of them were nice. They wouldn't treat us like delinquents like the others would."

"I mean they believed us when we told them things, tried to give us a chance."

"But you can't talk to them about your problems. You're only supposed to talk with your P.O. (probation officer)."

"THE AUXILIARY ladies come in sometimes. I used to see them coming in with a cake for kids' birthdays. But you don't talk to them except if they take you out for a trip. They're pretty nice."

"We got to do some things. There's a movie Sunday nights in the cottage. And skating in Walnut Creek on Saturday nights if there's enough transportation."

Other delights in the long days in Edgar Cottage:

"Once in a while they'd let you read a newspaper—except if there was anything in it about juvenile hall or the cottage."

If a child is not fortunate enough to be placed in an "outside" or public school, he attends the cottage school: one hour a day, half an hour of English, half an hour of math.

Sally, recently returned to her parents, could look back on the cottage and complain with a bitterness cherished in a 15-year-old's way.

But perhaps a touch of apprehension tinged that bitterness.

"When I left, you know, I said 'goodbye' to one of the counselors."

"And they said, 'Don't say goodbye—you'll be back. They all come back.'"

Putting Claws In Cat Laws? Hearing Is Set

Cat lovers will converge on the board of supervisors July 23 at 2:45 p.m. in Martinez to debate the merits of cat licensing.

The board set the hearing date to discuss a proposed code amendment which would provide a $4 fee for all dogs and $1.50 fee for tagging cats.

In addition, amendments have been proposed to license cats kept for commercial purposes with fees similar to those charged dog kennel owners.

Under the amendment, license fee for four to including 10 cats would be $5, while the county would charge $10 for any number of cats over 10.

Cats, the proposal says, would have to be over four months old before individual licensing would be required.

WEEKEND WEATHER FORECAST

Fair through Sunday with little change in temperature is the forecast for the central county area by the U. S. Weather Bureau. No rain is expected.

Westerly winds, 10 to 20 miles per hour, are expected to prevail.

So get ready for a weekend of swimming, hiking, picnicking and other summer fun.

There aren't too many left, you know.

100 Miles to Suburbia in a Few Decades?

By JACK BUSHNELL

"The future of Suburbia is not only important to the real estate industry but to the metropolitan areas throughout the world," Harry L. Morrison Jr. told members of the Contra Costa Real Estate Board at their Monday meeting.

Morrison, in his "Future of Suburbia" speech, commented on a statement made by Professor Gulick, director of the Institute of Public Administration, New York.

Professor Gulick had mentioned two years ago that this was a critical area not only on international level but a metropolitan level as well and unless the problem of governing metropolitan areas was solved that America's civilization stood in grave danger.

MORRISON went on to quote University of California Professors Davis and Langlois wherein they predicted that the Sacramento and Stockton areas would be merged with the Bay area within the next few decades and that people would live 100 miles to be outside of suburbia.

Morrison also quoted one of his students as saying, "We are leaving the area of wall-to-wall carpeting and entering the area of wall-to-wall people."

According to Morrison, the population will extend on a very dense basis—to the Pacific on the west and Santa Cruz Mountains to the south—and will eventually encompass 10,000 square miles which compares with 1286 square miles now covered by the present metro portion of the Bay area.

He added that the present 3.2 million population is expected to rise to 10 million by the turn of the century.

DURING the course of his speech, Morrison went on to discuss suburbs, their problems and the reasons why people flocked to them following World War I, and in particular, World War II.

Morrison said that suburbs were made possible due to the modern techniques of transportation and communication; highly mobile sources of power and the low cost of financing homes.

He pointed out reasons why people migrate to suburbs: "They want to get away from congestion, find more space and privacy, and do not want to live near business and manufacturing industries."

EVEN MORE important, people expressed the desire to find identity in a small town against the amenities in the large city and still maintain large city convenience.

Morrison went on to comment on the fierce provincialism of people living in the suburbs and said, "Virtually every valley is a city state," citing the local scene as an example.

He spoke of different types of suburbs, of the problems of the core cities and suburbs, and why living in suburbs is exorbitantly so and living in cities where the losing population contributes to a decreasing revenue.

Morrison concluded, "An immense amount of research is going around in this field at a time when our own Institute of Governmental Studies at the University of California is currently playing the role in that there are millions of dollars being spent to solve the problem."

Morrison felt confident that "we in the future" would both have our cake and eat it too," by devising a system of governing the metropolitan areas which would obtain the economy and efficiency of a centralized government and yet preserve the amenities associated with present day suburbs.

MORRISON said that in the San Francisco Bay Area "we already have the corps of such a government through our Air Pollution Control District, Rapid Transit District and the Association of Bay Area Governments. Guest speaker Morrison is the president and chairman of the board of Lafayette Federal Savings and Loan Association; president and chairman of the board of Mt. Diablo First National Bank, a director of the Contra Costa Taxpayers Association, director of the Bay Area Rapid Transit District and professor of public administration at St. Mary's College.

Moraga Memo

Listen to the Birdie Sing . . .

By YVONNE MAUZEY
376-4083

GLORIOUS SUNSHINE and the birds a chirping, calling back and forth from tree to tree. This just goes to show the best things in life are free. Where could you buy the warmth of the sun, butterflies, darting in and out, the birds' song and the rustle of the breezes through the tree tops. The sun glowing like a priceless diamond.

What's this I hear? The sound of whistling from the lips of a small boy making his way up the street. This is almost obsolete in these times of hustle and bustle. Also the song of the woman singing while baking bread in the kitchen. The warmth of the oven, the smell of rising bread and the song of a person enjoying a chore they are glad to do.

The people of Hatfield Place are ones who do like the olden days. Where everyone joins in to make everyone else happy on a holiday at home. Those who don't have to leave their own street to have a ball. The Fourth of July found the street and people on a good old fashioned parade and holiday, with 80 people attending the festivities, from their street and neighboring streets.

Floats were made of the wagons, trikes, strollers, kiddie cars and anything that rolled to make a gala parade with streamers flying. Every float received a ribbon for entering. Some were done entirely by the children and others with the aid of family, mother, dad or whoever.

The fathers and mothers got together the darndest band you ever did see or rather hear! Bill Taylor was drum major and led the proceedings up the street to the band stand the fathers had erected at the end of the street, for all to enjoy. Steve Crane carried the colors for the color guard. The biggest part of the fun was the practicing for the band before the Fourth.

This whole affair evolved from a suggestion at the mid-June block party, that they do something for the kids who were being so good while the adults were having their party. Presto the Fourth of July Parade!

Tickets were sold at 65 cents each. All you can eat of salad, hot dogs and ice cream. Cokes and beer were served for refreshers and for the band to wet their whistles. So they could play a prettier tune. Don't know if it helped or not!

THE MORAGA RANCH SWIM CLUB'S Fourth of July affair was a huge success. With families bringing their picnic lunches and children entering into contests. Greg Costa, head of the Teen Club Committee announces the winners of the swim contests as follows: Ages 10-12, Todd Kelly, Steve Holt, Vicki Parker and Kay Van Newhyzen; Ages 7-9 Allison Hall, Laura French and Ron Kelley; Ages 5 & 6 Mindy Hall, Dave DeJohn and Peter Merlone.

The outstanding performance in horseshoe pitching was: ages 10-12 Todd Kelly, Steve Holt and Marlene Huff; Ages 7-9 Steve Merlone, Johnny Van Newhyzen, Brad Ertola, and Gordon French; Outstanding performance in Volley Ball ages 10-12 John Sanders, Laura Hall, Gary Ottesen and Nancy Kelly; Ages 7-9 Judy Taylor, George Hohnesben, Lauren Hovey and Brad Ertola. Judges for the contests were Lifeguard, Peter Forman, Greg Costa and Janice Holt.

After the funday contests and awarding of prizes, the moms and dads competed with the kids in volley ball and horseshoe pitching. Everyone fighting for every point. These kids are a real match.

The little children under seven had great fun at the pitching game. Throwing at the open mouth of a clown and receiving a candy reward for a hit.

CORINE BRENNAN ANNOUNCES the Carroll Club's next party date will be July 21. This will be a family carnival, with games, contests, a swim show, a refreshment booth and barbecue. Get your tickets at the Pro Shop. The price, $1 per person.

THE NEWCOMERS CLUB publicity gal, Joan Poor, announces their next party will be held at Wildwood Acres. It will be a barbecue for couples to be held July 20th. The price of $5.00 per couple will include a dinner of steak, chili beans, salad, french bread and coffee, and admittance to the park. Get your reservations in by the 15th to Alice Miller, chairman of her working group, Pamela Marx, Shirley Griffin and Marion Dove. These gals are responsible for planning the whole affair. All new residents are invited. Call Alice 376-4251.

STUDIOUS PRILL DEVIN, home from college in Oregon, is attending summer school in San Francisco prior to going to the University of Pavia, Italy come September.

THE RALPH GRAHAMS of Seofield Drive busily building a new menage, complete with pool, in Walnut Creek. Hate to loose Donna, Ralph and their two young sons.

JOHN SANDERS, bouncing back after suffering from peritonitis awhile back. He was in the operating room over two hours. John is home now and feeling fine. He was back on his feet a week after the operation. Just goes to show, you can't keep a good man down.

THE HAPPY VALLEY INN, has now turned into a Junior Night Club open to all well behaved teen-agers who like to dance and act like adults. The Happy Valley Inn has had such artists as Bobby Freeman, Troy Dodds, Walley Cox, Little Eva and their regular band the Four Highs.

The dances are held Monday, Wednesday, Friday and Saturday nights from 8 to midnight. Adults are also welcome to join the young adults.

SHORTS THE SPACE WILL ALLOW: The Darby's of Hatfield Place have aunt and uncle Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm visiting from Rhode Island . . . Nancy Spencer's mom and dad, Mr. & Mrs. Keith visiting from Miami . . . Lots of out of towners . . . Mimi Porter playing the clarinet in the Hatfield, Fourth of July band . . . The Hydes spending 95 per cent of their time on the new lawn chasing gophers and digging pig weeds (a succulent) . . . At least that is what they are called in the East . . . It's an all up hill climb . . . Shirley Hovey's mother visiting and watching the kids try out for the swim contests at the pool . . . Lloyd Torchio getting his Fourth of July dunking the hard way at the Swim Club . . . Les Wandel wrecking his new boat up in the sloughs . . . The waves just too high to navigate. . .

'Leisure World' Opens in WC

Groundbreaking ceremonies, on June 27, marked the start of the $200 million Rossmore Leisure World project designed for citizens 52 years old and over to be located in the City of Walnut Creek.

This is the third Leisure World project to be built. The first one in Seal Beach has already more than 7000 residents, better than 5400 of the 6580 apartments have been sold in the 13 months of selling.

The second community is located in Laguna Hills. Construction of the model area is well under way. Leisure World Laguna Hills will provide 18,000 share ownership apartments.

MORE THAN 2200 acres of land will be utilized in the construction of 10,000 share-ownership one-story and split-level garden type of apartments at Walnut Creek.

This project is expected to increase the present population by 18,000 residents, according to Charles H. Andrews, vice president of the Rossmore Corporation.

Special guests who appeared at the 3:30 p.m. ceremonies held at the Dollar Mansion included Walnut Creek Mayor Newell Case; chairman of the County Board of Supervisors James B. Kenny and regional director F.H.A. San Francisco office, Frank Pendergast.

Others included Joseph Hickingbotham, representing the Dollar family, key officials of the Rossmore Corporation as well as other leading dignitaries.

A complete tour of the scenic site that is surrounded by scenic mountains preceded an elaborate outdoor buffet.

Construction of this unique community, one of the nation's largest senior citizens' projects, will begin immediately, Andrews said.

MODELS, sales office and the first of five giant recreational centers should be completed by late September with the first move-ins scheduled for February, 1964.

If the project is completed as anticipated in approximately three years, the lavish community will include a 3000-seat auditorium, five clubhouses, riding and hiking trails, golf course, several swimming pools plus a 150-bed general hospital.

Plans to renovate the area's historic Dollar Mansion into a library and museum will also be realized.

Included in the down payment of approximately $1500 is $390-$510 for a share of stock in the corporation.

The purchase of this share of stock entitles buyers to occupy a one or two-bedroom apartment of their choice.

Monthly payments—including principal, interest, taxes, insurance, maintenance as well as medical care—range from $130 to $170.

THE APARTMENTS include an all-electric built-in kitchen with oven, range, refrigerator and garbage disposal.

Eighty per cent payment on the cost of all prescriptions, drugs, diagnostic tests, in-home nurse calls, doctor and office calls, physical therapy and hospitalization at the proposed $5,000,000 Leisure World Hospital are also included in the monthly payment.

Anyone 52 years of age or over is qualified to purchase at Leisure World, with no physical examination necessary for acceptance.

Designed by Charles Warren Callister, noted San Francisco Bay Area architect, the Leisure World community will incorporate a new approach to senior citizen living at Walnut Creek.

To fully utilize the natural beauty of the valley in which it lies, miles of hiking trails, bridal paths and formal gardens will be planned to create a breathtakingly beautiful outdoor paradise.

Specially-built paths to accommodate electric carts will weave throughout pine and oak-studded hillside terrain.

Arrangement of the apartments will follow a cluster-pattern, taking advantage of sloping hillside so ideal for contemporary-styled architecture.

Adjacent to the Walnut Creek Leisure World, one of the country's most complete and modern shopping centers is planned, that will assure convenience and complete marketing facilities for residents.

Jacuzzi's Meet Orinda In Babe Ruth Playoff

Lafayette's Jacuzzi's and Orinda Dotens will meet tomorrow in a playoff game at San Ramon High School to decide the championship of the Diablo Valley Babe Ruth League.

The game will get underway at 10 a.m. on the neutral Danville field.

Both teams completed their regular sessions with identical 7-1 records.

Lafayette made the playoff necessary when they defeated the Danville Stars, 4-3, Wednesday evening.

Richie Stephenson hurled four-hit ball for the Lafayette team in racking up the win. A come-from-behind effort was necessary, as Jacuzzi's rallied for three runs late in the contest to squeak by the Stars.

Jacuzzi stayed in contention, defeating the Danville Angels, 5-1.

Lafayette got off to a fast start, scoring two runs in the first inning when singles by Craig Blencowe and Scott Sulovich scored Jeff Campbell and Rich Sheppard.

IN THE FIFTH, singles by Jeff Campbell and Blencowe and a double by Denny Johnson drove in three runs to complete the scoring.

Dave Mignola, a 13-year-old making his first start, limited the Angels to but two hits.

Orinda Dotens assured themselves of at least a playoff slot, clobbering the Danville Angels, 13-1.

Mike Salata, who has been outstanding all year for the Orinda nine, was on the mound and gave up a scant four hits. Scott Babcock, with three bingles, and Herb Hofvendahl paced the Orinda offense.

THE SINGLE defeats suffered by both Lafayette and Orinda have been against each other.

Grennan Gets Bank Promotion

Martin J. Grennan has been promoted to assistant cashier and transferred to the Orinda office of Central Valley National Bank, founder-president Charles P. Partridge recently announced.

Grennan, his wife and four children plan to move to the Orinda area.

Mango is New Shell Chemist

Dr. Frank Mango was recently appointed to the staff of Shell Development Company's Emeryville research center.

Mango who lives in Orinda holds a B.S. degree in chemistry from San Jose State and a Ph.D. in chemistry from Stanford.

Both were tightly played games.

Winning two of their last three games, the Lafayette Pirates mounted a late season drive they hope can carry them into second place.

Last week, behind the five-hit pitching of Mike Kell, Lafayette trimmed the Danville Pirates, 2-1. Kell also belted a triple to score the winning run. The two Lafayette tallies came in the fifth frame, after they had been trailing 1-0. Mike Biondi also tripled and team captain Mark McDougall was one for three.

Saturday, the Martinez Yanks bombed the Pirates, 13-2. Emory Allens' two for three and Mark Janlois with two for two were high spots for Lafayette.

LAFAYETTE bounced back to upset the Martinez S-R's, 3-2. After scoring in the first inning on singles by Mark McDougal and Mark Janlois, the Pirates fell behind in the sixth by a 2-1 count.

In the bottom of the seventh, Jim Rossi led off with a pinch hit single. After stealing second, Doug Snellgrove's sacrifice moved him to third.

At this point, Barry Kirkpatrick's first hit of the season, a squeezed bunt, scored the winning run. Kirkpatrick hasn't hit often, but he couldn't have picked a more advantageous time.

Mike Biondi also had a key double in the contest.

Diablo Archery Shoot Sunday

Bear Creek Road To Be Relocated

A $1,798,618 contract for construction of the second phase of a project which will create a north-south connection between Orinda and Martinez was awarded to the Pionbo Construction Company of San Carlos Tuesday.

The six and one-fourth mile project involves the relocation of Bear Creek Road.

The second phase will extend from the existing road through Black Hills to Happy Valley Road where it will connect with the first unit.

The road will be paved 40 feet wide with two 12-foot lanes and 8-foot shoulders.

Pionbo, who is constructing the first section at a cost of $987,156, submitted the lowest of five bids to the County Board of Supervisors.

The engineer's estimate was $1,610,780, but did not include engineering costs.

The road will join San Pablo Dam Road, Happy Valley Road and Garcia Ranch Road.

'In the Shadows'

THEY STILL CAN'T FIND HER... Back in 1954, the Secret Service scoured the country to find Susan Tivol Seldwin-Tait to inform her she had been awarded the Freedom Medal, civilian equivalent to the Congressional Medal of Honor, for her distinguished service to her country in the Far East.

Sue was enjoying her first holiday since the war and she wasn't leaving any forwarding addresses for anything!

But the intrepid government men finally found her, a military ceremony was hastily arranged, and our gal got her medal.

In last Friday's edition of The Sun, Bernice Scharlach wrote about her friend in an article in the Staff Corner.

By coincidence, the same day, the San Francisco Chronicle printed a story announcing President Kennedy's selections for this year's Freedom Medal winners. Among them were Marion Anderson, listed as the "third woman ever to receive the award."

Conspicuously absent from the paper's review of the previous winners was number two, little lost Sue.

And there was her mother, a San Franciscan, surrounded by framed citations, pictures and other solid gold proof, dropping her coffee cup as she spotted the Chronicle's omission.

We did the only honorable thing. We sent her a copy of the story in The Sun!

STICKY HUMOR... Walnut Creek postal officials were having a ball selling the new "Food for Peace" stamps that came out last week. Innocent citizens, requesting five-cent stamps were asked, "Do you want to take them out, or will you eat them here?"

WHO'S HE?... A new "Who's Who" is not off the presses. This one, published by a gal in Los Angeles (it figures), is titled, "Who's Who Executives in California." It boasts a distinguished preface, "The First State Assumes Its Leadership."

Among the "leaders," it lists not once but twice, in Lafayette and in Martinez, Dr. Drummond J. McCann... the benefits of whose "leadership" have been deprived us since June, 1962.

For this they are charging $35 a copy???

A READING TIP: In case you only read the famous (or is it infamous?) Playboy mag, because of a local "angle" you might be interested that a Playboy panel discussing "1984 and Beyond," include Poul Anderson of 3 Las Palomas Road, Orinda. We have to mention at this point, however, the panel is all-male, directly photographed and fully clothed—a Playboy "extraordinary."

Probably the most famous personality on the panel, at least on the TV "set," is Rod Serling, creator, etc., of "The Twilight Zone" seen weekly on CBS.

If you are familiar with Rod's work, then you've got an idea what the panel concerned with—more or less, that is.

A LITTLE BIT OF BERELEY—The campus influence which prompts "art" and foreign films to be shown at theaters around college grounds has spread to Lafayette. Although this might not be the real reason (not too many away-from-home college students live in Lafayette) the Park Theater has had a steady diet of the "off-beat" films. Some of the films have been excellent, others a bit too "French," but it's apparent the younger kids have to go elsewhere for Walt Disney and Elvis Presley. The in-betweeners who really can't be classified as "adults" usually get in, many teens can testify.

THE BIG QUESTION—Many local residents are patiently awaiting the day they believe is fast coming when the civil rights fight comes to our highly-segregated central county area. It may not come in the form of sit-in or singing walkathons, but by a concentrated effort to buy or rent homes throughout the central county area—something that hasn't been very successful to date.

ALL IN A NAME—It seems that there is more than one boy in Lafayette named Terry Larson. An 11-year-old named Terry was killed this week in an accidental shooting. The family of another Terry Larson, 18 years old, however, on hearing the radio report of the death thought it was their Terry. The older Terry returned home later in the day clearing up the tragic misunderstanding.

We can now conclude that The Sun's very well known newspapers... the other day an envelope was delivered to our headquarters office in Lafayette... it was addressed, "City Editor, Sin, Lafayette..."

Own a Pool? Here's Health Dept. Advice

KEEP THAT POOL CLEAN!

MARTINEZ—Swimming is one of the healthiest of sports and should be kept that way, says Dr. Maxine Schering of the County Health Department.

In our county alone there are more than 3000 swimming pools, and an overwhelming majority of these pools are found in backyards.

Over 250 public pools (recreation pools, community pools, apartment and motel pools) are frequently inspected by the County Health Department and must maintain certain minimum requirements concerning health and safety.

Private pools should be inspected regularly by their owners.

Pool water should be kept clear and the pool should be kept clean of algae and dirt.

It is recommended that there be a chlorine residual level of 0.4 parts per million and the water should be maintained in an alkaline condition as indicated by a PH level of 7.2 to 8.4.

TESTING KITS for the purpose of checking these chemical levels in the pool can be found at most of the local pool supply companies.

The most tragic accident that can occur around a pool is a drowning.

To prevent drownings, good safety measures are:

Toddlers should be closely supervised at any time they might gain access to a pool; older children should be taught how to swim; non-swimmers should not go into deep water; a person should avoid swimming alone; a rope should separate deep and shallow water; a 12 to 15-foot pole and a shepherd's crook should be a poolside for rescues and in the larger pools ring buoys are also necessary.

To be prepared to save a life, all adults and older children should learn mouth-to-mouth artificial respiration.

INSTRUCTIONS for the use of mouth-to-mouth artificial respiration should be posted by the pool.

(These instructions are available on request from the County Health Department, 228-3000, Ext. 531.)

We all know of the risk of drowning, but not everyone thinks of the danger of cuts, scrapes, concussions, fractures or electric shocks.

"ALL I KNOW IS... AFTER I SCRAPED MY NOSE ON THE BOTTOM, I WENT TO THE LOCKER ROOM TO STOP THE BLEEDING... CAME BACK... AND THERE THEY WERE."

To take care of such accidents, as well as drownings, a first aid kit should be available along with a list of the location and telephone numbers of the nearest ambulance, hospital, fire or police rescue service, and physician.

A common cause of accidents is running on the hard, wet surface around the edge of the pool, where a slip and fall can have nasty results.

Jumping or diving into shallow water or crowded spots can produce broken bones and cracked skulls.

PLACING POOLS within a range of wires or power lines has led to tragic results.

Extreme caution should be exercised with lighting equipment and electric appliances used in and about the pool.

Before installing a home pool, local health and safety regulations should be checked.

These include provision for proper fencing, sanitation, drainage, structural stability, proper distance from property and power lines.

Fences and gates should be adequate to prevent youngsters from entering when the pool is unattended.

Equipment for assistance to swimmers in distress should be kept at the poolside.

Reputable swimming pool construction companies know the regulations, as well as the specifications for filtering systems and disinfectant chemicals.

Any questions about swimming pool regulations can be directed to the County Health Department.

Teenagers Have Wild Time at Sun Dance Party

Teen-agers from all over the central county area gathered for the Sun dance party at the Happy Valley Inn Wednesday night.

They came from the rolling hills of Orinda to the slopes of Diablo.

But despite the diversity of geography, when the party ended (as Thursday began) all had one thing in common—a good time.

THE EVENING was highlighted by the dance music of the Three-Hi's.

The group played fast and faster. And the kids danced wild and wilder.

The Bay Area trio kept the kids twisting all night.

By the time the evening was over, these young adults proved themselves a worthy match to John F.'s fifty-milers.

THE PARTY also featured the singing of Guy Apple, a L.A. import.

The Happy Valley Inn is a new teen-age nightclub located in Lafayette.

As usual, soft drinks were served at the "bar."

Teen-agers were admitted to this Sun-sponsored affair at half price with a coupon from one of the four Suns—Lafayette, Orinda, Walnut Creek and Pleasant Hill.

Jury Bares Civil Service Malfunctions

Dissatisfaction is running high over the county civil service system and a streamlined administrative procedure is badly needed to clarify roles of parties involved, the county grand jury charged today.

Civil service committee chairman T. M. Sheehy steered clear of acknowledged personality clashes involved and blamed malfunctions on:

"The cumbersome organizational structure which does not separate administrative from advisory functions."

While there is general employee satisfaction with the county merit system, Sheehy reported, civil service commission members are seething because their body has been bypassed on many occasions.

Another factor cited by the jury committee was a commission work load "far too great to handle satisfactorily in one meeting per month."

And, the jury said, the commission is still forced to act upon literally dozens of items "which are routine in nature."

The jury urged the board of supervisors to issue a comprehensive policy defining areas of personnel practices, set two monthly civil service commission meetings instead of one, and study methods of streamlining personnel administration.

DRINK UP

Federal Health, Education and Welfare officials state that present and foreseeable consumption of radioisotopes in milk and other foods is well below the level considered by the Federal Radiation Council to be safe intake for a lifetime.

Pleasant Hill Crash Puts Four Persons in Hospital

Four Walnut Creek residents were hospitalized following an accident in which the driver of the car lost control, allowing his vehicle to crash into a light pole.

The car reportedly went out of control at the Louis Store parking lot at 1924 Oak Park boulevard, Pleasant Hill.

THE DRIVER, Norman Daneiko, 37, of 49 Valla Court, Walnut Creek; his daughter, Barbara Terry Daneiko, 12; Sharon Pounds, 12, and Julia Pounds, 10, both of 48 Valla Court, Walnut Creek, were rushed to the Concord Community Hospital by Pleasant Hill Ambulance Service.

Julia Pounds was released after treatment for minor cuts, but the other three were held for further examination.

Daneiko reportedly suffered a fractured right arm, lacerations and bruises; Sharon Pounds a brain concussion and Barbara Daneiko lacerations and bruises on her face.

According to police, Daneiko had just started to drive west on the parking lot when, at 7:45 p.m., he lost control and the automobile crashed into the light pole.

The car, a 1957 passenger vehicle, was towed to a Walnut Creek garage.

A Contra Costa-bound truck stalled in the Caldecott Tunnel and jammed traffic nearly two miles, and later a minor rear-end collision inside the tunnel sealed off both lanes of the bore.

HIGHWAY patrolmen, reportedly unable to reach the scene from Oakland because of the traffic snarl, radioed patrol cars in Contra Costa for assistance.

In the meantime Oakland police officers were dispatched in an attempt to control the traffic. The truck was finally removed at 9:30 a.m. by a tractor brought with police escort from South

San Francisco. No injuries were reported.

In Danville area, a car turning into Hemme Avenue from State Route 21 was rear-ended by a north-bound car, resulting in minor injuries to both drivers.

IN WALNUT CREEK area, excessive speed was attributed to an accident in which 21-year-old Steven Murry Empson of 680 Center Street, Walnut Creek, received serious injuries.

Empson was reported as going north on Treat Lane when his car drifted over the center line and struck a pole on the opposite shoulder.

California Highway Patrol reports that a complaint has been filed against him for failure to drive on his own side of the road and on having no operator's license in his possession.

A MOTOR scooter accident occurred when a muffer fell off and into the rear wheel of the scooter driven by George R. Galvin, 16, of Star Route, Danville, causing him to lose control and flip his vehicle.

THE ACCIDENT occurred while Galvin was proceeding eastbound on Camino Tassajara two miles east of Freitas Road in the Danville area.

Galvin was taken to the Kaiser Foundation Hospital in Walnut Creek by the Walnut Creek Ambulance Service.

Last reports revealed that the boy was doing well. He had suffered lacerations, bruises and abrasions.

GET IN SHAPE

Regular exercise every day will help you get into condition (and shape) for beach games and summer sports, the Contra Costa County Heart Association says.

PRECIOUS DEW

Romans believed that pearls were solidified drops of dew.

FAST, AND COOL—That's how Manager Melvia Hirte describes the new Helene Curtis hair-dryers in operation at Capwell's beauty shop, and customer Josephine Davidson seems to agree. In addition to doing a speedier job at lower temperatures, the dryers are as comfortable as an easy chair, the manager explains.

Nielsen's Legal Ad Boycott

The Sun's associate editor that The Sun would never get another legal notice if editorial policy regarding Nielsen and county government did not change.

And Nielsen is reported to have said that county departments would support him by withholding legal advertising from The Sun.

Heaton said he queried County Administrator J. P. McBrien on Nielsen's unusual order and was told "to do what Nielsen said."

The planning official indicated Nielsen may have conferred with McBrien earlier.

"Mel had come in and he was pretty burned up," Heaton reported.

COUNTY ADMINISTRATOR J. P. McBrien explained that while placing of legal advertisements requires a vote of the board, customary practice has allowed the supervisor involved to specify the newspaper.

Nielsen's boycott has since become a standing joke among supervisors, some of whom consistently suggest The Sun whenever a legal advertisement is to be placed by Nielsen.

McBrien said he had heard no complaints about Sun service in publishing legal ads. "Very infrequently do we get complaints regarding any newspapers," he said.

Occasional misprints and delayed publication occur in newspapers throughout the county, he said, but he called the occurrences infrequent and varied in origin.

"What we are talking about," he said, "is a traditional board policy under which the individual supervisor determines placement of advertisements in each instance."

ONE OUT OF FIVE

The average presently healthy middle-aged white male has been estimated to have one chance in five of developing coronary heart disease before he reaches the age of 65, according to the Contra Costa County Heart Association.

TRAIL BLAZERS

Many of our modern highways follow the same trails blazed by early pioneers... paths used by Indians or routes stamped out by migrating buffalo herds.

Denied Building Permit Case 'Far From Closed'

Despite a split decision favoring the county building inspector results in mediation of the case of the denied building permit, the matter is far from closed, according to the developers.

Ron Findleton of Diehl-Findleton-Lucas told The Sun yesterday that the matter would be in court within days and the adverse decision would have "little effect" on the outcome.

Denial of the permit, which came only after the county board of supervisors passed an emergency ordinance, was urged by County Building Inspector Rudy Krantz.

Krantz maintains the developers would construct a building unsafe due to fire hazard. The $250,000 apartment unit would be built in Rheem.

DEVELOPERS insist, despite Krantz' claim, that their building would be within code requirements, applicable at the time the application for the permit was made.

Yesterday Findleton charged the Contra Costa Builder's Exchange mediators with lack of impartiality and courtesy.

He asked exchange president James McGeehon to "terminate proceedings" on the mediating board's recommendations lest the exchange be placed in the same position as the board of supervisors—"that of acting without mature deliberation."

The exchange did find supervisors guilty of haste in passage of the emergency ordinance required to deny the permit and called the existing code "unduly restrictive."

Defer Action On Mobile Nature Museum

Discussion of county maintenance of a mobile natural science museum was deferred Tuesday by the board of supervisors until final budget hearings.

The board acted on receipt of a letter from the county park and recreation commission supporting proposed cooperative sponsorship of the vehicle.

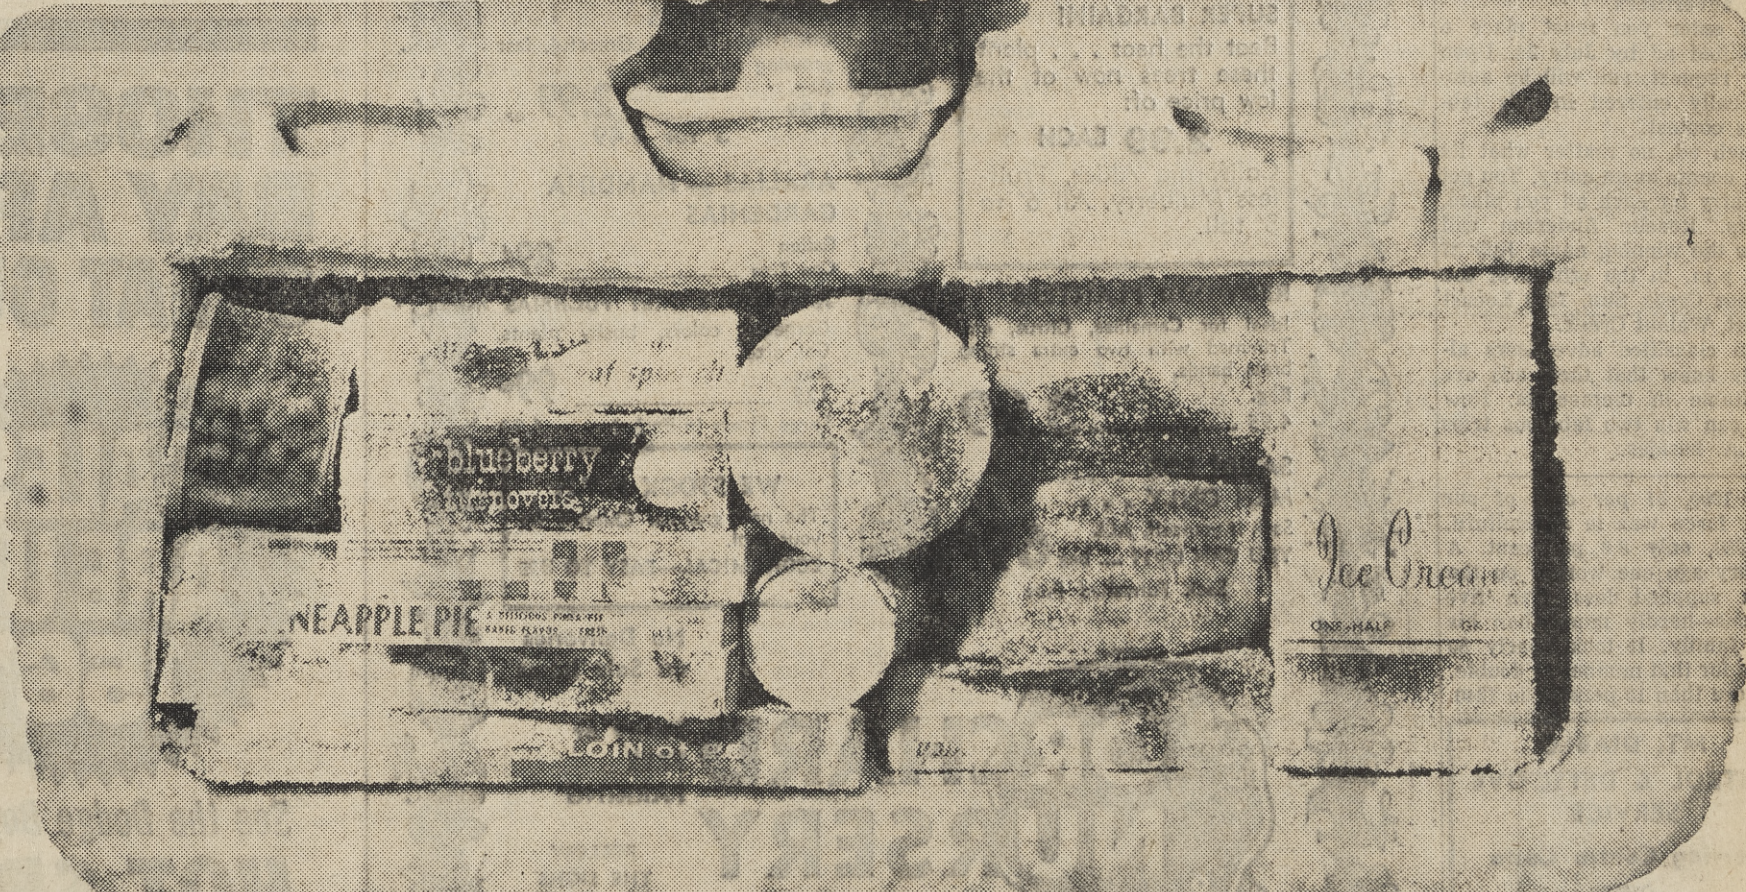

The Alexander Lindsay Junior Museum has offered to purchase and outfit a small bus-type vehicle for the county if the county would maintain and staff the mobile museum.

Audubon Group To Hold Annual Camping Trip

The Mt. Diablo Audubon Society's annual camp trip to Wright's Lake, El Dorado National Forest, will be held this week-end. Carroll Davis will be trip leader, with Lynn Farrar, assistant.

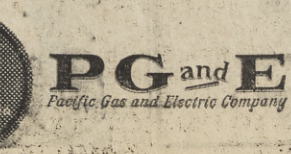

Announcing that this is "strictly a camp-out trip," Farrar said there would be good fishing, magnificent scenery, and beautiful wild flowers as well as a wide variety of birds.

To reach the lake, take Highway 50 five miles past "Fred's Place," turn left on the country road and then drive on in, he said.

Development Assn. Picks New Chairmen

Chairman of 11 committees which will function for the Contra Costa County Development Association during the 1963-64 fiscal year were appointed by Jack O. Fries of Martinez, president.

Fries named four men to head committees.

They are J. B. Towne of Martinez, special events; Walter T. Jameson of Oleum, membership; Henley Worthington of Concord, advertising; and Don Lasell of Pittsburg, air and water pollution.

The other recently-appointed chairmen of standing committees are:

Karl Ellingson of Avon, new industries; John M. Miller of Antioch, industrial problems; E. B. Mott of Concord, commercial development; Carl W. Rehfs of El Cerrito, highways; V. A. Fink of Nichols, airport; Howard Greenhalgh of Walnut Creek, recreation; and Frank Gray of Martinez, legal.

Magazine Tells Of Industrial Development

Contra Costa County's industrial advantages were discussed in a 16-page spread in the national magazine "Industrial Development," published in Atlanta, Georgia.

Thirty-four hundred extra copies of the insert have been obtained by the Contra Costa County Development Association for distribution to eastern corporations which are prospects for plant locations in the county, according to J. T. Ritch, general manager.

The industrial department of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company cooperated with the Development Association in financing and obtaining data for the advertising effort.

The story, written by Frank Stedman, senior editor of Con-way Publications, is illustrated with two maps and 19 photographs.

It is essentially a report of an intensive economic survey of the county and its attractions for manufacturing.

In 1900, 37 per cent of our labor force was in agriculture. In 1960, only 8.6 per cent. A century ago one worker on the farm supplied less than five persons—hardly more than his own family. It took nearly 80 years for that number to double. to more than 10 persons in 1940.

Let's Reduce Tooth Decay!

Elected public officials are expected to act wisely and courageously. A lot of hem-hawing accomplishes nothing for anyone.

We're talking about the fluoridation matter that has arisen in the area covered by the Contra Costa County Water District.

At a recent meeting of the district's directors, many persons appealed for the water to be given the fluoride treatment.

IT WAS recalled at the session that in the case of Antioch, where the water is fluoridated, a 79 per cent decrease in cavities has been noted.

One of the most authoritative talks at the CCCWD meeting was provided by Dr. Zachary Stadt, Contra Costa County Dental Health Officer.

He told the directors that of 18,000 school children in the county examined last year each had an average of four teeth attacked by decay.

At the dentist's minimal estimate of $15 a tooth, that represents a cost to parents of $1 million!

DR. STADT told the directors that with fluoridation the decay factor could have been reduced an estimated 50 per cent.

For a long time The Sun has backed fluoridation of water.

We're not alone, either. Medical and dental authorities agree that fluoridation is a good thing. In fact, it's vital for the health of a community—not to mention the money factor.

The CCCWD serves some 90,000 consumers. THE SUN believes it is now time for the water district's directors to act.

It doesn't make sense to toss the matter up for a vote, which some directors believe should be done. The best medical research says that fluoridation does cut tooth cavity.

This advice is readily accessible to the directors. In the best interest of community service, they should courageously render a decision—and render it soon.

WHO KNOWS. Fluoridation just might spread to many other parts of the area. And it would be for the best of all.

Vet Tax Abuses Can Be Dropped

Contra Costa citizens have a right to be disturbed over the Grand Jury's report on the county assessor's office being unable to cut abuses of the tax exemption program enjoyed by veterans.

The jury declares that a lot of money (the taxpayer's) has been wasted and apparently more will be squandered before the necessary corrections are made.

The Grand Jury's recommendations to remedy the situation seem to make sense.

THE GRAND JURY in its report charged that the assessor's office has failed to use procedures legally available to it to cut down abuses.

Is it too much to ask that veterans should be required to appear personally at the assessor's office when he files for a tax exemption? At least he should do so more often than is now required.

The jury recommends that the assessor start a training program immediately so that all personnel in his office are intimately acquainted with all provisions and interpretations of the law.

DURING THE latest filing period, Contra Costa County experienced a drop of 3800 veterans' tax exemptions. The reason is obvious: the jury put a giant spotlight on who should be eligible for exemptions. More veterans learned they should not apply. If each exemption is worth $100 in taxes to the county, then the county received $380,000 more in taxes from the taxpayers who should pay.

This means you did not pay additional taxes for 3800 veterans who have been getting exemptions.

You can see why the program must be thoroughly scrutinized and the corrective actions taken.

Hats Off To Our Farmers

A mental picture of Contra Costa County immediately embraces suburban living, cities and some industry along the waterfront—not to mention rolling brown hills and grazing cattle, sheep and horses.

But we've got news for you.

THE COUNTY is quite an agricultural spot and a rich one at that. In fact, 61 per cent of its resources comes from Agriculture.

We've just perused the County Agricultural Department's annual report and it makes for some interesting reading.

It discloses that we live in quite a crop and garden area.

LAST YEAR, for instance, the county's agricultural production soared to a healthy $30,393,280—an increase of $7.5 million over 1961!

That's an awful lot of asparagus, lettuce, tomatoes, almonds, apricots and walnuts.

There were substantial increases, too, in livestock and poultry as well as nursery products.

For setting this record-breaking pace, our farmers and ranch owners deserve plaudits from all of us.

THEY'RE helping to make our county a healthier and wealthier place in which to live and work.

Letters to The Editor

EMERGENCY ORDINANCE

(Ed. Note: The following is a copy of a letter sent by R. E. Whitham, president of the Home Buyers Protective Association Inc., 508 Magrath Court, Pleasant Hill, to the county board of supervisors.)
Sirs:

The Home Buyers Protective Association, Inc. is concerned about the manner in which the board of supervisors passed the recent emergency ordinance which is the basis for denial of a permit for construction of the J. J. Prentice apartments in Rheim.

As voters and private citizens, each individual member of the Association strongly protests the method used by which an individual's interpretation of a code is upheld without basis of fact and sufficient evidence.

It is our feeling that such power can be misused. If emergency ordinances can be initiated to block an action, then the same emergency ordinance could be revoked at any time when it was felt that the ordinance had achieved its purpose. This is a dangerous precedent for all citizens of the state. We do not question the need for emergency ordinances; however, we do question emergency ordinances based on the opinion of one man.

We do not feel that emergency ordinances should be passed unless the evidence is irrefutable. In the face of stringent protest following the passage of any emergency ordinance, the board of supervisors should thoroughly investigate and hold public hearings to determine whether or not the ordinance should be repealed or modified.

Our concept of proper investigation does not support the interpretation of the law by one person.

We do not consider the action of the board of supervisors to be in the best interests of the rights of county citizens.

R. E. WHITHAM
President

We Like It Here... Never judge a lady by the column she writes

By GUEST COLUMNIST HENRY MUNSON, JR.

HAVE YOU ever wondered what that enigma called Marie Monahan does with her time? (??)

I am a fellow columnist* from the isle of Manhattan and for the past two weeks, I've been staying at the Monahan Manor in Orinda. Therefore I feel qualified to reveal her daily routine and will not attempt to do so. . . .

At the break of dawn every day, Mrs. Monahan, a descendant of those ascetic Viking warriors, is sound asleep in bed. Many hours later, at about ten o'clock, she awakes to the glorious prospect of another day.

SHE cheerfully tells her children to get out of the house before she beats them and then sets about the day's chores.

After studying the breakfast dishes for awhile, she decides to go shopping. No sooner than she decides this she's in the car. Then there is the problem of remembering where she left the car keys.

She's occasionally distracted from her search for the keys by a favorite song on the radio, a waltz around the room or a hasty decision to call so and so about such and such, but she ultimately always finds them.

SHE'S always very quick when she shops and the only reason she takes so long is because she often forgets her check-book or shopping list. Or money.

She goes to great trouble to fix lunch and is always prompt about putting back the bread and peanut butter and throwing out the paper plates.

The afternoon is spent getting one of the children something he or she needs. The next day's afternoon will be spent returning it and getting another one.

She prepares dinner with elaborate care and insists on fresh food. After shelling peas and plucking chickens she has little time to cook. But at least she knows her children are healthy and have strong gums.

AFTER dinner when the children do the dishes, she watches to make sure nothing breaks. Finally she takes over herself for fear the dishes will all be gone. You can imagine how hard the children try not to break anything.

Then when all is calm, Mrs. Monahan goes about writing her column.

HOW she does that, frankly I don't know. . . .
(Ed. Note: Now writing for the Trinity Times; next year, hopefully for the Stanford Daily.)

JUVENILE HALL

Editor:

While the evaluation report on the school at Juvenile Hall is critical of the county superintendent's office for "being protective of poor . . . practices," as correctly reflected in The Sun article in the July 5 issue, there is one factor I think should be communicated to the public and that is, "We asked for it."

There would have been no evaluation of the educational program if the superintendent's office had not requested it.

We were shot with our own gun. We knew we ran this risk when we made the request for the evaluation. But, in order to effect a change, we felt we needed the thinking of an objective group, outsiders who would look at the situation with a fresh viewpoint.

We were not so "protective" but what we ourselves were capable of initiating the evaluation and, I might add, considerably ahead of the time that the situation of Juvenile Hall began to make headlines.

We also chose to make the report public. I think some recognition is due a department that is capable of putting itself on trial in order to bring about improvements. It isn't done every day.

Staff Corner Say, How Do You Spell Your Name?

By TERRY HANSEN

Surprisingly very few people know much about anyone's business. From the vocational angle, I mean.

Many times I hear the comment, "You guys in the newspaper business sure have it interesting. But it's all a mystery to me."

The remark raises an eyelid.

Interesting, sure.

BUT EVERY newsman in the world almost suspect everyone knows everything about his field — because a newspaper is one of the free world's commodities.

You just can't hide it anywhere. A newspaper is out there for the world to see and, if necessary, keep for posterity.

So what makes a newspaper?

A bunch of people—editors, reporters, advertising salesmen, circulation personnel, office workers, delivery boys, the mailman and those very important printers and pressmen in the "back shop."

BUT WHAT really makes a newspaper great?

I won't try to cover the entire list — but I'll ramble through part of it. Important aspects, too, I might add.

LOCAL NEWS—This is the heart and soul of newspaperdom. Without it, you're dead. Too many papers burden their news column with lengthy wire dispatches which surveys clearly reveal that most persons don't read in their entirety.

The other night I was belting down a beer and the guy next to me began belittling The Sun because we'd run a story about him. The bartender laughed and said, "Oh come on, Joe, you may not have wanted it in print, but I sure as the devil enjoyed reading it."

The guy wasn't involved in a disparaging sort of incident, but he was still mad—and self-conscious about appearing in print.

Too bad.
ACCURACY—Announce that a war is close and the world shivers. But mis-spell a man's name and you've brought thunder down on your head.

State that the Lower Basin Street Women's Auxiliary is meeting next Tuesday when actually it's Wednesday and listen to the desk phone ring.

Attend a heated meeting where tempers flare, and shouts are made—and then make a misquote that angers an entire community. Brother, you better be right—or BEWARE!

CLARITY—If you can't write something so that someone understands the entire story, what good is it to put out a newspaper?

Since I'm in the mood, I might as well knock a bit of the competition. It's been years since I've heard anything good said about the New York Times.

And I can understand why. As a newspaper it'll bore you to death. If you're hunting for long paragraphs, a long jumbled-up story about some tiny African colony—and lots of "gray, gray matter"—go buy The Times. And don't complain to me afterward.

EDITORIALS — The public may be pleased that you print all the news, but it will scream at an editorial.

Great, I say. The Sun isn't afraid to stand on any editorial it prints. We'll listen to the screams and the complaints, but we know where we stand.

Many strong-hearted newspapers are like this. But far too many take no editorial position or they print a lot of gobble-de-dock which really doesn't stand for anything.

You know, something like, "How Nice The View Looks From Our Hills."

MAKEUP—Another secret of newspaperdom hardly understood by the public. But how a newspaper looks is just as important as the attractive display of soap products on the store shelf.

White space around some of the news copy and pictures. Clean, crisp headlines (and the right headline must go with the right story).

And thanks to those brilliant experts in the "back shop" The Sun always comes out looking bright and shiny.

We're an invited guest into your home.

We hope to remain an excellent guest, too.

And the next time your name is spelled "Schmidt" when actually it's "Schmid," well—

Aw to heck with it. Let's be friends anyway.

Under The Sun Let's Look Around Area For New Mr. Supervisor

By HERMAN SILVERMAN

(Editor's Note: The following is a reprint of a column printed December 29, 1962. The problem remains the same, and so does the column.)

Mel Nielsen is doing a poor job as supervisor from District 2 and he should be replaced when his term is up.

He must run for re-election in June, 1964.

The Sun could subtly campaign against Mel in the months between now and the election. Without announcing our opposition to him, we could simply but consistently needle him. (And this is easy, for he does so many foolish and unstatesmanlike acts. We have pointed these out many times in the past years.)

Instead, The Sun hereby announces, clearly and unequivocally, that in our opinion Mel Nielsen is not a good representative in this most important job. He should not be re-elected, if he chooses to run. Meanwhile, The Sun urges the citizens in his district to look around and find a candidate or candidates to oppose him.

This will be a difficult task. A Contra Costa supervisor has a tough, thankless job—but a most important one. For literally thousands of residents in Orinda, Lafayette, Crockett, Moraga, Saranap, Alamo and Danville, District 2 supervisor is their "mayor"—their sole representative on the board of supervisors.

Call the supervisor!

Do you think your street needs repair? Call your supervisor. Drainage problem? Insufficient sheriff patrolling in your community? (It's a sheriff's problem but closely related to how much the supervisors budget him and how much they demand of him.) Planning and zoning? Call your supervisor. Ditches clogged? Dangerous streets near schools? Welfare problem? Smog? Public health danger?

Taxes high? County and other public employees' pay checks and fringe benefits too high? Are county offices run efficiently and always honestly? (Is this too much to expect?) Are decisions made for the good of the greatest number—or what is right? Or are decisions made on the basis of "deals," expediency and pressure?

Yes, Mr. Supervisor faces a darn tough job. In addition, he must work well with the other four county supervisors, to get improvements for this district. The other supervisors must trust him. He must have some diplomatic and political talents and an even temper. But, he should be intelligent, conscientious and strong.

Mr. Supervisor has a part-time job but is constantly called by his constituents. He must go to many meetings. He is badgered by those who are "for" a certain rezoning (often an influential land developer, builder or corporation) and petitioned by hundreds of nearby homeowners who are "against." He spends more than "part-time" on this job. (Mel has devoted virtually full time.)

What does it pay?

The position pays $800 per month—$9600 per year, if my math is correct. Plus a car. Plus expense money—and both add up to a substantial figure.

The purpose of today's column is not to present a detailed indictment against Mel. It is obvious to people who have observed him carefully that he simply is not a good representative—for many reasons. These have been spelled out in the past—and will be presented in the future. This is only right for any public official. He is constantly under scrutiny.

In many ways it is difficult for me to take the position as stated today. I have known Mel for 15 years. Mel and his former wife have been to our home and we have been to their home. I presented Mel the "Man of the Year" award some years ago, as he was selected by the Lafayette committee.

An old mistake . . .

On the other hand, I sincerely believe that Mel should never have been elected supervisor when Jack Cummings retired. At that time, The Sun did not endorse candidates. Mel and others ran for the office. A citizens' committee screened and selected General Wallace of Danville. Frankly, we were wrong in not endorsing Wallace.

Wallace and Nielsen won in the primaries. Mel won by a small margin in the general election.

Who will run against him in June, 1964? It must be a capable, public-spirited citizen. (Incidentally, it need not be a man.)

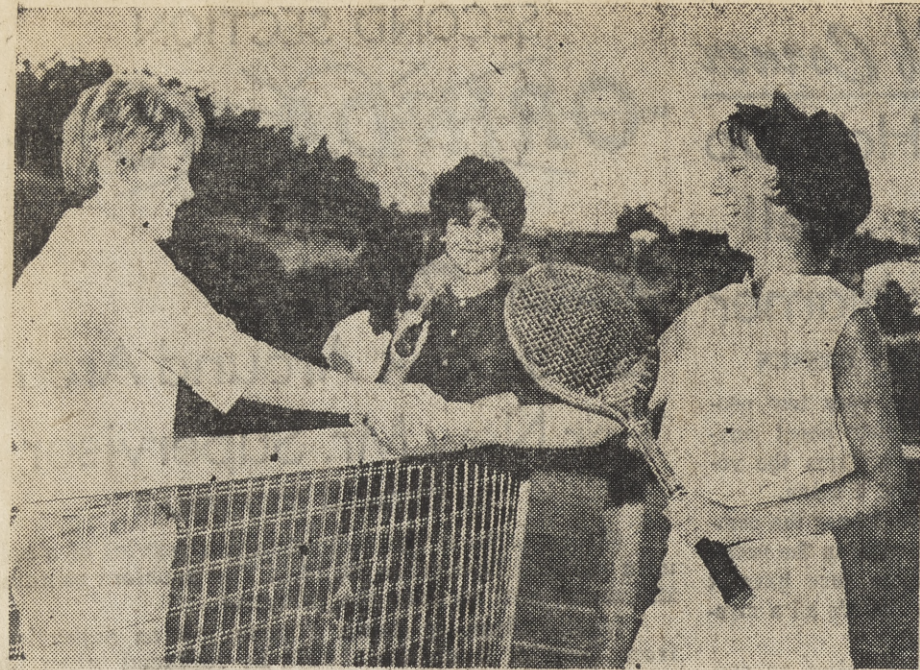

Perhaps another citizens' committee will be organized to interview, select and finance an able candidate. Well, what do you think?

By HEC HANCOCK
Normally, when you look for success stories, they aren't too hard to find. Usually, there's a tendency to equate the sensational with success.

A national champion that springs up in our midst. An exceptional performance.

As a rule, one doesn't have to be too observant. Most of the time, the rags to riches performances are there for all to see.

BUT RIGHT NOW, we've been sitting on a success story for the past seven years. One that keeps running, and keeps growing.

And, uniquely, the success will eventually be culminated with the organization's demise.

I, of course, refer to the Lafayette Youth Association.

The LYA, as it is commonly referred to, had its origin back in 1956 as the brain child of Gordon McNulty. Originally, the founders were concerned with providing a junior baseball program to the youth of the community.

Subsequently, the LYA has expanded its operations so as to provide a complete recreation program to the residents of Lafayette.

"We had a lot of people that helped get this thing off the ground," recalls McNulty, reflecting on the early days of the program. "Manzanita Wilson was a big help. She went out and collared sponsors. She also took care of the bookkeeping. Jim Pangburn and Stan Wilson were a couple of others that pitched in."

McNulty went on mentioning only a few that had helped. In 1958, Dave deVarona, the former California All-American, was instrumental in establishing the swimming program. It was this program that helped spawn Donna deVarona's internationally famous swimming career.

Today the LYA offer recreation facilities for approximately 2000 of the area's youth. Among the activities offered are baseball, swimming, tennis and a general program. Under the general program, badminton, track, baseball, wrestling, tumbling and ping-pong are available to those that wish to participate.

All phases of the program except baseball are open also to area residents—not just those living in Lafayette.

IN ORDER to make the program possible, the LYA has been able to enlist the assistance of the local school districts, and through them have made the recreational facilities of the schools available to the public. In fact, the rapport that exists between the LYA and the local schools might well serve as a model for other community relationships.

The various programs of the LYA are self financing through nominal registration fees charged the participants. This source of revenue, plus the sponsors recruited from the business community, has been sufficient to defray all expenses. In addition, through the use of volunteer help, a number of worthy contributions have been made to the area.

A good example is the lighting for night baseball on Mattson Field at Acalanes High School.

THE LYA, operating just during the summer months, is thus able to provide as complete a recreation program as can be found.

Bob Hagler, business manager for the group, states "We are prepared to provide almost any type of recreation desired by the community. Our general recreation program started this year, is just getting off the ground. However, when the youngsters become aware of what is available to them, we're sure it'll take off."

A staff of approximately 20 full and part time employees is required to keep the program functioning. Hagler, basketball coach at Amador High in Pleasanton, reports that the LYA is able to provide employment and leadership opportunities for a number of local youngsters each summer.

While providing opportunities for the youngsters, those involved in the work have done an excellent job over the years.

Both their leadership and instructions have been excellent.

In addition, the LYA has drawn on teachers during the summer for certain phases of the program.

AS GORDON McNulty, founder and current president, explains, "As soon as a recreation district or department is formed, we'll be happy to go out of business. Our mission will then be complete."

The community doesn't have to wait until then, however, to give the LYA a long overdue "Well done."

By JOE McELROY

With only three weeks remaining in the Walnut Creek Junior Baseball season, every game remaining becomes a "crucial" for those involved in the fights for the top spots.

LONG'S BAIT SHOP—you can have old linesides outside the gate, and if you're lazy stay inside and hook 'em pluggin' trolly and driftin'. Last Saturday a full boat load pulled out of Richmond Harbor and all had their limit in an hour.

Don's Bait Shop—Clearlake Highlands—not too good the past weekend for anything 'cept cats and a few crappie. It's been poor for bass. One guy worked hard and got four. As of Tuesday the lake is starting to calm down.

Davis' Lake Resort—Lake Almanor—things are pretty good in the lake mostly 'bows and German Brown. A few Kokanee trolling. The nearby streams are still good and not many fly flippers are present. The Hamilton Br. is just right. Weather is warm. For you deer hunters the prediction is good. Last year it rained practically all the entire deer season.

Well are you ready for Bay Point Rod and Gun clubs B-I-G chuck wagon breakfast and ham and bacon shoot. You better be for it's a big event. The club is putting on and engineering the shoot and the Women's Auxiliary is wiling the pancake turnner for the breakfast. This whole deal will come off Sunday, out at the range on Arnold Industrial Highway, just north of Willow Pass Rd. The shindig starts promptly at 9 a.m. and runs the day. Cost of this outdoor breakfast is a mere 50 cents. I've been told that thruout the day refreshments can be had at the stand located on the range grounds.

ATTENTION all you deer hunters. The United Sportsmen, Inc. that have the above range at the above mentioned location is adding new hours to accommodate you. The range will be open in addition to the Saturday and Sunday hours. The added hours are Thursday and Friday evenings from 6 to 8 p.m. So get yourself out there and sight in your blunderbuss. It's for your good that they are doing this!

Last weekend I was up at Lake Hennessy (Conn Dam) no luck at all with the black bass. But I had a picnic with the crappies and bluegills on my fly rod. I actually got tired of catching and throwing them back. All I used was a yellow surface poppington and engineering the number 43. Now this can be real fun. Why don't you try it.

Check That Grip Rassett Yells!

By HEC HANCOCK

"You actually hit the ball before you even move the club. By that I mean, without the proper stance and grip, you haven't got a chance to hit the ball properly. You've just got to take the club back the simplest way possible and hit the ball."

Sixth in a Series

pro at the Buchanan Golf Course speaking. And as you might expect from such a statement, a guy that has spent considerable time with fundamentals.

Bill Rassett started in the golf business at the age of nine. He broke in in the inauspicious role as class C caddy at the White Bear Yacht Club in White Bear, Minnesota. From this point he went through the ranks, including class A caddy, locker room attendant, and caddy master. Finally, he made the grade as assistant professional, ending up as first assistant when the war broke out.

During the two and a half years that he had served as a pro, most of it had been under Tom Vardon, brother of Harry Vardon for whom the Vardon Trophy is named.

After serving in the Army Engineers, including two and a half years service in Europe, Bill came to California on a vacation.

That did it as far as professional golf was concerned for a time. Unable to find a golf job open, and unable to support a family on an assistant's pay, he looked elsewhere for his livelihood.

He regained his amateur status, and has managed to play and show well in most of the city tournaments throughout the area.

When Buchanan job opened up last May, Rassett became the pro manager. Since May of this year, he's been the teaching pro, as the owner of the course, Dan Pascoe has taken over management.

Since coming to Buchanan, Rassett has instituted the golf clinic. Through clinics, he takes on and helps all types of golfers, from young to old, beginner and advanced.

He charges $6 for six lessons, because giving lessons away did not work. But once a nominal charge was made, Rassett has had more than 500 students pass through his hands.

A new class for men is being established for Tuesday evenings getting under way at 7 p.m.

In Rassett's opinion, all pros should conduct clinics. "If this is to become a top golf area, it can't be done with lessons at $5 per half hour." Warming up to his subject, Rassett went on to say that one reason this hasn't been a top golf area has been the lack of courses. "We still haven't enough. There should be a municipal course in Walnut Creek as an example."

Citing the Concord course, he opined that "when the full 18 holes are in, there will be sufficient revenue to support not only the course, but the rest of the recreation program."

As to a tip for the weekend golfer, Rassett advises that stick with fundamentals. Check that stance and grip.

Tigers Tangle With Lodi Dodgers; Concord Rebs Meet Phillie Rooks

Fresh from a 3-1 victory over the Lafayette Gaels, the Walnut Creek Tigers journey to Lodi tomorrow night to tangle with the L. A. Dodgers of Lodi under the lights.

The Tigers evened their Contra Costa County League record at two and two in CCC action last weekend.

Concord's Rebels split a pair of non-league encounters. They were edged 5-4 by the San Francisco Giant Rookies, on Saturday, but took the measure of St. Helena, 5-1, on the latter's home field.

FITZPATRICK'S Colt .45's took leave of their CCC chores to participate in the Central California Baseball Managers Association tournament at Alameda, and by virtue of winning a pair, are still alive in that competition. In addition, their win at Alameda necessitated a postponement of their clash with the rebels for leadership of the CCC this weekend.

In the Gaels-Tiger encounter Sunday, the Lafayette team drew first blood in the sixth inning. Gary Hanson, Gaels shortstop, was awarded first base after being hit by a pitched ball. He advanced to third via a passed ball and a fielder's choice. He was able to score when Tiger Shortstop Rene Brandol, drew a throwing error on a ball hit by Bill Lloyd.

However, the Tigers managed to put together a big inning in the seventh, tallying their entire output of three runs.

Larry Steele got on base after being hit by a pitch, Brandol then bunted and was safe on an error. The runners advanced when a balk was called on Gaels hurler Steve Casey. Bob Nordeman then attempted a squeeze, but the catcher dropped the resulting pop-up, Steele scoring.

Subsequent singles by Greg Bertagnoli and Terry Queenan each scored runs, providing the Tigers with their margin of victory.

LARRY BRADFORD, who relieved Richie Bovo in the seventh, was credited with his first victory of the season.

Steve Casey of the Gaels relinquished for the loss after a very creditable performance for six innings. Bob Perry finished up on the mound for the Gaels.

In the S. F. Giant-Rebel contest Saturday, the Rebels fell victim to a three-run ninth-inning rally by the Giants.

Val Snow, after taking over for starter Ben Reniker, forced in a run when he hit a batter with bases loaded.

The Giants then scored two more with a double off Snow's slants.

IN THE BOTTOM of the ninth, the Rebels got one back on singles by Terry Caviglia and Rex Bankhead, but the rally died when Bankhead was picked off first base.

This week the Rebels will meet the Phillie Rookies in three games at Concord.

Saturday, the Rebels and Phillie will go at 2 p.m. at Mt. Diablo High School Field. Sunday, a double header will be played at Concord Park, the games getting under way at 2 p.m.

Rex Bankhead is due to draw the starting role in Saturday's game. Ben Reniker and Bud Nelson are slated to be on the hill in Sunday's double header.

Pro Dinny Dinsmore just completed a free golf clinic for 82 members of the Women's Golf Club.

LYA Baseball Races Begin To Shape Up

With the arrival of mid-season, the leagues of the Lafayette Youth Association baseball races began to spread out a little.

The top teams in the various leagues are beginning to open some space over the rest of the pack.

However, the impression shouldn't be drawn that the top spots are not the subject of hotly contested campaigns.

The trend may have been established, but there's much to still be decided before it can be learned who will wear LYA crowns.

MINORS
In the minors, Rheem Center holds down first place by virtue of a 5-0 record. During the past week, they retained their undefeated status, downing second place Links Appliance, 4-3.

Gaston's won a pair to remain in contention. John Dougery hurled Gaston's to a 10-5 win over the Emporium, collecting 13 strike-outs a long way.

Steve Sherry with two singles and four RBI's together with Steve Collar, who was two for three, led the attack.

Ricky Van Tolk clobbered a triple for the Emporium, driving in a pair of runs.

Gaston's then wound the week up bombing Lincoln Enterprises, 12-2. Sherry again pitched the win.

In one of the best played games of the year, Lafayette Rental posted a 1-0 triumph over Sun Valley Lumber. There was only a single hit by both sides in the game.

Winning pitcher, Greg Davidson, pounded out three triples and three doubles, as American National rolled to a 17-3 win over Lincoln Enterprises.

Dave's Nursery defeated Sports and Games, 6-3. Dale Hoag was the winning hurler. Hoag contributed three RBI's to his own cause.

MAJORS
Orchard Nursery won a pair, running their win streak to eight straight wins without a loss. Doug Collier hurled the league leaders for Moraga Lions, 5-3.

Mickey Brophy belted a pair of homers. Orchard then rolled by Gaston's, 9-5.

Links Appliances also won two, beating Lafayette Lions, 7-1, and Lafayette Pharmacy won three games during the week, to stay in contention. They downed Merit Tanks, 8-3. Sports and Games, 11-3, and Lafayette Lions, 4-2.

Lafayette Rental and Hardware won two, downing American National, 9-6, and Rheem Center, 15-5.

Rheem managed a split on the week, having earlier banged out an 8-5 win over Gaston's.

Campana's sole win of the week was at the expense of Lincoln Enterprise, 7-6.

Lincoln then posted wins of 10-8 over Merit Tank, and 12-0 over Sports and Games.

Moraga Lion's single victory over Merit Tanks, 5-3.

After losing to Orchard Nursery, Sun Valley took advantage of Merit Tanks, 7-6, and Campanas, 7-2.

PONY LEAGUE
LYA headed up the league with a game and a half lead, the rest of the league pretty well bunched up.

LYA during the week knocked off Lafayette Dime and Dollar, 2-0. Steve Fink worked on the mound for the winners. Bob White singled in Norman Hoag for LYA's first score in the fifth. Greg Fink doubled and scored on Mike Gillian's single to complete the scoring.

Next time out, LYA and Berkeley Farms played a nine inning, 0-0 tie. Steve Fink hurled a no hitter, while Rich Barcroft was touched for only two hits. Dave Compas and Bud Stanley collected the only safeties of the contest.

Earlier, Berkeley Farms pounded out an 8-6 decision over Emporium. Lafayette Dime and Dollar blasted La Fiesta Barbers, 15-4. The Barbers then turned on Berkeley Farms and posted a 15-0 win.

Emporium closed out the week, trimming La Fiesta Barbers, 3-2.

S&G Giants Host Amblers

Sports and Games Giants furthered damage. However, the barrage resumed in the second frame, and Remy was bombed for four runs.

Richie Nye took over on the mound for the Giants in the third, and managed to hold the Dodge power in check until the eighth.

The Giants are hoping to rebound from the 13-1 shelling they took from the L.A. Dodgers of Lodi Sunday. That game, entirely characteristic of the feuds enacted by their senior prototypes, had all the fireworks normally associated with a Giant-Dodger meeting.

Feelings between the two clubs became strained early in the contest. Finally passions spilled over, and proceedings were marred by a brief flurry of punches. Fortunately, cooler heads prevailed and squashed the uprising before it got out of hand.

AS GOOD a ball club as the Dodgers are, they are going to have to decide between baseball and pugilistic careers.

As a result of the incident, Manager Mel Alamo of the S&G Giants cancelled out the remaining three games of the scheduled four game series.

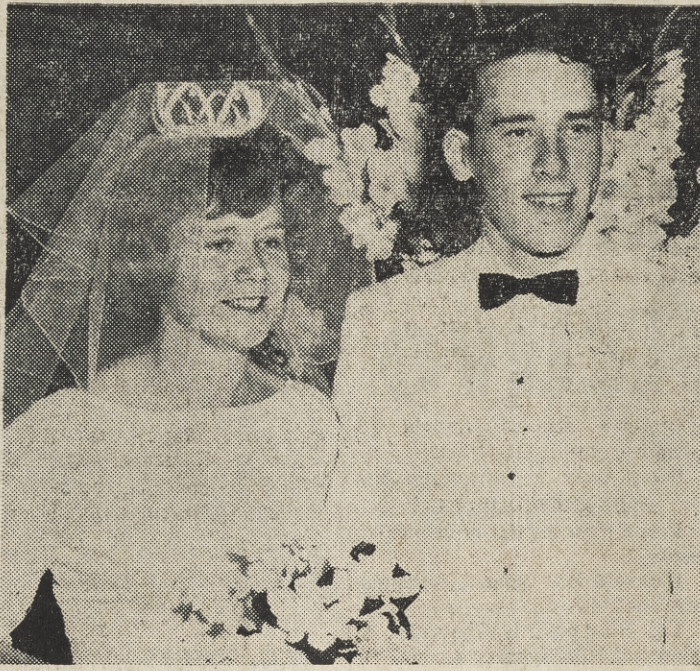

"The Dodgers play fine baseball, and we like to play clubs of that caliber. But since hard feelings have developed between the two clubs, it's best to forget the whole thing. We're interested in playing baseball, not performing in

Broadway Shopping Center Big Sale Underway

July Clearance Sale to Continue Until July 17

Contra Costa County's greatest summer sale is under way now at Broadway Shopping Center, Walnut Creek.

It will run until July 17.

Broadway's July Clearance Sale is one of the biggest ever, according to George Webster, chairman of the Broadway Merchants Association.

"THIS SEMI-ANNUAL event is looked forward to by thousands of families in Contra Costa County," Webster said, and "we don't plan to let them down."

"This is a tremendous opportunity to buy summer merchandise at a great saving," he said.

This year will be the biggest and shoppers will save more than ever before, Webster promised.

The reason for such a big sale?

It's very simple.

IT'S NOW THE TIME for merchants to order fall merchandise and get it on the shelves for that fast-approaching time of year.

Stock must be moved out for fall items.

Summer items must be moved quickly!

And there's no other way to do it except have a clearance sale like the one in progress now at Broadway, Webster said.

MOST MERCHANTS have plenty of summer items in stock.

The savings the shopper can make right now while the merchants must sell are tremendous, Webster said.

Merchants are at a disadvantage and the shopper will benefit from it, he said.

Broadway is open evenings every Monday, Thursday and Friday.

"The sales are waiting for you," Webster reminded.

"All you have to do is come on out."

SHOWING OFF—Although the donkey's not likely to admire her outfit, males probably will. She's wearing belted flannel Bermuda shorts with slash side pockets. A smashing topper to the shorts is a Madras vest over button-down long sleeve shirt.

'Mother, I'd Rather Do My Shopping in The Sun'

There A New Fall Look Coming

If it's fresh, young and junior in feeling, then it's probably the new look.

Swappable groups, color fabric and styling treatments keynote a whole series of conversation pieces for the transition-fall-winter season ahead.

A-lines, culottes, wraps, shifts, buttonhole and patch pockets, brass-buckled or D-ring belts, pearl snap fasten-V-necks, turtle necks, bulky-seeming tweeds, suedelike textures fluff-knit accessorized shirts and tops all go to make up a varied and exciting series of autumn fashion features.

And what a collection of fall shades to choose from: Red, bone, mallard blue, green, cranberry, camel and ever-present greys in several tones. Perfectly suited for pickup shades in shirts and tops are pink, white, grey, cream, celery, green and blue.

Take a new novelty fabric, tongue-in-cheekingly called "Phoney Pony."

A combination of cotton and rayon woven in simulated pony fur, it is styled in a fun group including: V-neck jacket, sleeveless vest, shorty wrap and slack. In all cases, flannel is used for contrast trim.

They're fastened with wrap ties, pearl snaps, coachman buttons (usually double-breasted), self-sashes, leather belts with brass details.

They're stretching out in the most unusual way. Stretch fabrics are in firm control of the situation this season as they appear in a solid, check and glen plaid patterns.

They're popping out in surprise quilted fabrics that combine lightness—with just enough bulk and warmth for activity or lounging.

They're ingeniously adopting new approaches at dodging school rules against Bermudas with continued acceptance of shorty wraps and culottes—more popular than ever by a landslide majority vote.

They're combining companion pieces from large fabric groups and then mixing these items with coordinates from other groups. For example: Flannel pairs with plaid or with itself in tone on tone. Heather plaid tops, heather solids, herringbone teams up with fleck tweed. All offer colorful opportunities for inventive and creative amateur fashion stylists.

All are color-right in autumn shades: soft cranberry, burgundy, olive, gold, red, loden, camel, char grey and black. Also moss green, bark brown, indigo blue, teal blue, russet.

IN LOVE — The mouth-open pooch loves his master and she loves her corduroy slacks and the wide wale pullover top with flared cowl collar. The combination of brightly-toned pattern top with solid pants, makes her a winner in the leisure time competition just as her friend is a winner.

There's a definite difference... for Fall '63. There's a sporting difference in a complete, new look: Avant-or-Apres sweaters with more than a hint of high fashion, hand-knit in Italy to exact color and styling specifications. Avant-or-Apres what? Your choice, my dear. Sweaters fit everywhere.

There's a dazzling difference for evening in a collection of full-length hostess skirts—all printed in daringly creative patterns topped by several versions of a simple sleeveless shell, cowl or collared; a stand out by contrast.

Each season sees more daring use of hand-screened techniques never before attempted on fabric. In the sweater collection, a whole garden of floral embroidered bouquets is scattered on grounds of white simulating the contrast of flowers on a field of snow.

These can be seen in both the pullover and the sweater collections, and particularly in a smaller group of cardigans—printed and embroidered on white 100% wool knit with rounded brass buttons and contrast binding.

Skirts are slim, mid-knee length, not a shade higher nor lower.

The semi-cowl flared and the turtle-neck are favorites as is the crew neckline, modified for face-framing flattery.

In the new sweater collection, a group of V-neck and crew neck pullovers in the feather, light, loose-weave knit of 50% wool, 45% mohair, 5% nylon are big news.

Patterns are geometrics, florals and abstracts but the real story is color.

Throughout the line, combinations such as black, pink and black; black, Persian teal and white; violet, winter plum and black; brass with yellows, shocking pinks with oranges, pinks with chianti, and winter plum with emerald green make startling yet fresh appeal to the jaded eye of color connoisseurs.

There's a relaxed difference in a complete new group of button-front and pullover tops utilizing hand-screened techniques and embroidered embroidered hand-crafts.

There's a difference in new uses for fabrics such as silk and velvet, hand-screened for the first time.

Double knit worsted jersey, lined in pants or trimmed with knit cuffs and collars, come in tops, comes up strong for the autumn weather. For evening wear and delightful at-home entertaining: silk and velvet— together and separately in magnificent evening skirts with silk screened or embroidered patterns such as the Spanish Mantilla print on silk; multi-color Bali print or abstract Baroque Scrolls on both silk and velvet as well as a fierce Samurai warrior in red and green on a black silk background.

Pants continually refined to the highest degree of fit and quality construction are in double-knit worsteds and a new imported light weight stretch fabric with a silky club perfect for the season's supple, simple, sleek and slim stretch look.

All tops coordinate with waist hugging pants using waist grippers and tailored in a smooth, clean-lined form fit.

The 'Stretch' Story

Summing up the fashion look for fall '63 is a "stretch" to new heights of inventive sportswear design.

Put the emphasis on stretch for that is THE style story of the season!

Although demand has created tight supply in this versatile fabric, horizontal, vertical and combination controlled stretches in solid fall shades, slipper satin, multi-stripe and houndstooth stretch designs.

More big fashion news: This year all pants feature the relaxed, long-leg look. A growing trend away from clinging, form-fit pants picks up continued favor and gains approval from many who were unable to wear the sleek-lined fit due to slight heaviness in the thigh or leg. This season, stylists have eased the leg-line just enough to gain added comfort without sacrificing the flattering lean, long look.

For added perfection of fit, stretch pants are cuffed in many versions. Stirrups fasten inside and, hidden by the cuff, disappear into the popular boot look worn everywhere for fall.

Shifts are the style for early fall. Originally designed as dormitory shifts for wear indoors in lengths above the knee, the Indian Summer prints had such universal appeal that lengths were brought down for outdoor wear. In many cases, coordinates such as shirts, knit tops, leotards and knee-high socks were designed to add life to this popular style on a near year-round basis.

There's a marvelous story in sweaters this fall. They're imported from Italy... all hand knit. A new neckline, The Horseshoe Collar, swoops down and around in front: perfect for the stretch-knit, turtle-neck top.

Another happy style surprise is the sensational attraction of evening skirts.

Women who thought nothing of evening entertaining in pants or shorts are going dress-up for fall with delightful interpretations of evening skirts in a range of soft flannel shades or a bold black and white sawtooth pattern with double-breasted coachman buttons.

And then there are tops: Designers dream about the chance to create inventive, unusual effects with free rein on the offbeat use of color, line and pattern.

Where to begin? Well, there are two top versions in a new fabric called Veltino.

It's a fleeced velvety feeling in solid shade zip-turtle neck with drawstring bottom and another version in Gauguin multi-color floral print. Still another variation of this fabric features bold dots of puffed nylon on contrasting woven cotton backing in a sleeveless vest with braided binding. The same puffed nylon also appears in a textured floral print called "Sculptured Flowers."

Note Patterns are big and bold in fall thinking. Herringbones, houndstooth checks and multi-stripes make important style news.

Vested interests are in fashion this season.

Vests and more vests serve as perfect toppers for everything from evening skirts to pants. Vests are in velveteen, suedecloth, quilted wallpaper and quilted tapestry prints.

Speaking of quilting, there's a little ski jacket with zip-front ingeniously worked in a ski resort map print.

THRIFTY DRUG STORE OPENS IN PLEASANT HILL THURSDAY

ROBERT L. MALLORY TO MANAGE NEW THRIFTY DRUG IN PLEASANT HILL

Robert L. Mallory has been named manager of the new Thrifty Drug Store in Pleasant Hill's Contra Costa Center, it was announced by the huge California chain. The Pleasant Hill Thrifty Drug is located at the intersection of Monument Boulevard and Buskirk Avenue.

Mallory is a highly skilled manager who has been with the firm since June, 1957. He joined Thrifty Drug as a prospect for management training and has advanced to his present assignment while serving with Thrifty units in Sacramento and Stockton. He has been a manager since September, 1961.

The popular Thrifty executive is a U.S. Army veteran and a former student at California State Polytechnic College at San Luis Obispo. He is married and the father of two children.

Well qualified in all phases of drug store operations, Mallory is a product of Thrifty's unique management training program. Under this plan a trainee is instructed in all basic drug and retail selling principles, plus the many detailed assignments of store operations. Then these are supplemented with practical in-store training. After the basic course is completed, a student is placed in a store as a second assistant manager, advances to assistant manager and then manager. There are opportunities for further advancement to other executive positions since all Thrifty Drug management personnel are developed and advanced within the company.

The remainder of the management team is comprised of Theodore E. Hetherington, assistant manager, and William N. Goggin, second assistant manager.

Hetherington began his Thrifty career in August, 1960, as a management prospect at the Monrovia store. He has received the balance of his training at stores in San Bernardino, Palm Springs, La Puente, and Redding. Hetherington, a veteran of the U.S. Marine Corps, attended school at Santa Monica City College and is married.

Goggin's career with Thrifty began in July, 1962, as a management prospect at the San Jose store and he has remained there for training until the present assignment. He attended school at Illinois College and Lincoln Junior College, both located in Illinois. Goggin is married and the father of three children.

Commenting on his appointment as manager of the new Thrifty Drug Store in Contra Costa Center, Mallory stated, "It is a wonderful assignment to manage a store in such a lovely community. Inasmuch as this is the first Thrifty Drug Store in the area I am looking forward to introducing our company's policy of selling the very finest merchandise at the lowest possible prices. When this is coupled with courteous service it builds the kind of goodwill that has led over eleven million customers to shop at Thrifty Drug Stores each month."

VAST COSMETIC SELECTION AT NEW THRIFTY

When architects for Thrifty Drug Stores planned the new store in Contra Costa Center, special attention was directed to the Cosmetic Department.

This very important segment of the new store has incorporated the very latest in show-case design as well as a complete inventory of nationally advertised brands.

In celebration of the Grand Opening, Thrifty buyers have succeeded in securing special low prices on many nationally advertised cosmetics.

Included in the vast selection of all beauty aids are complete "treatment lines" of Hudnut, Tussy, DuBarry, Dorothy Gray, Hazel Bishop, Helena Rubenstein, Revlon, Max Factor, plus "fragrance lines" from Coty, Dana, Lanvin and many others.

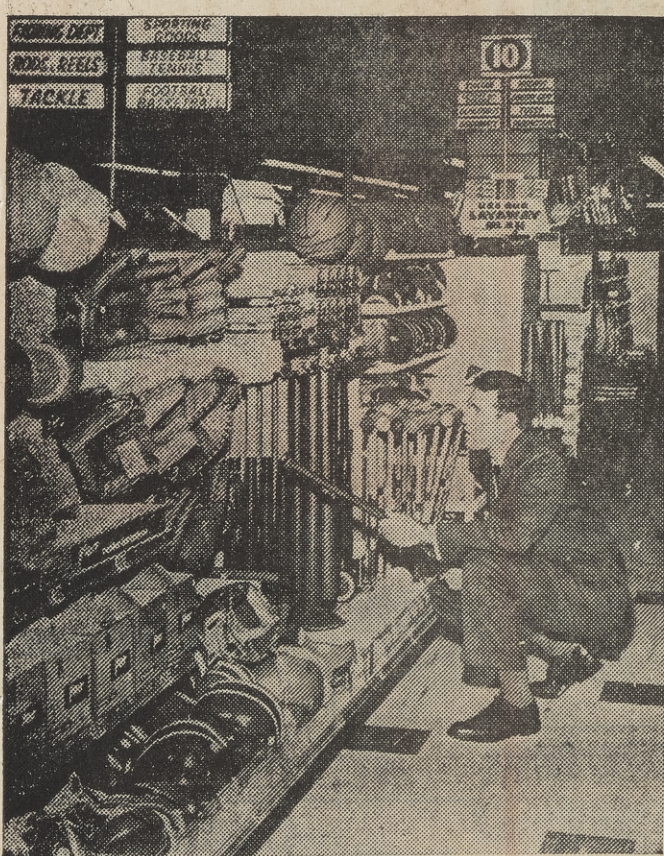

A special innovation is the new Lipstick Bar, that affords every customer the opportunity to view all national lipstick brands and to select the particular shade suitable to the individual.

A Thrifty-trained cosmetician will be on duty to advise and counsel the ladies in the proper use of make-up and the wisest selection in all cosmetics.

PRESCRIPTION DEPARTMENT—Thrifty Drug Stores has long been famous for its complete prescription service. Highly skilled, registered pharmacists, with many years of experience, will be serving customers at the new Thrifty Drug Store in Contra Costa Center.

HOUSEWARES DEPT. OFFERS HUGE VARIETY AT NEW THRIFTY DRUG

Down through the years Thrifty Drug Stores have become a second home to the homemakers of California, and a big reason for this is the giant housewares department that every Thrifty features. The new store in Pleasant Hill will be no exception and all local residents are invited to inspect the tremendous variety of housewares bargains.

Of course, the kitchen is the women's headquarters and Thrifty stocks a fabulous variety of items to make her work easier and more pleasant. Among the featured items are all types of glassware, dinnerware, flatware, cooking utensils and accessories, ovenware, baking pieces and pot holders—the list is endless.

On the decorative side, Thrifty's housewares department has many values, including wall plaques, planters, fancy serving dishes, utility serving trays and fancy TV trays. All these and many more are offered at Thrifty's traditional "sells for less" prices.

GARDEN DEPT. FEATURED AT NEW THRIFTY

When Thrifty Drug Store executives planned the new store in Contra Costa Center, provisions were made for the "Green Thumb" and "Week-end Gardener's Club." A complete line of garden tools, sprays, hoses, sprinklers and small hand tools are featured in this department, plus hoes, rakes, spades, cultivators and many others.

Also in this complete department Thrifty features a huge selection of insecticides, fertilizers and weed solutions to keep lawns green and gardens healthy. To keep your lawn manicured, both power and regular lawn mowers are offered at Thrifty's traditional low prices.

The new Pleasant Hill Thrifty caters to the flower enthusiasts with packages of seeds and bulbs in a great array of colors and species. For 34 years, Thrifty Drug Stores have served California buyers with the highest quality at the lowest cost. To maintain this policy, quantity purchases are made for every department in Thrifty's 212 stores, affording the customer an opportunity to buy the best for less. This policy applies to the Garden Department and all home owners are urged to visit this section during the Grand Opening for bargains aplenty.

Huge Crowd Expected at Monument Blvd. & Buskirk Ave. For Grand Opening Sale

Thrifty Drug Stores, the West's largest drug, variety and junior department store chain, will open its first store in Pleasant Hill July 11th. The new Thrifty Drug, located in Contra Costa Center, at the intersection of Monument Blvd. and Buskirk Ave., will unveil its vast facilities to the public at 9:00 a.m.

Highlight of the introduction of Pleasant Hill's first Thrifty Drug Store is a gigantic 10-day Grand Opening Sale with hundreds of "specials" in each department. Free balloons, surprise gift bags, lifelike orchid corsages, cigars and bags of animal cookies will be given at the door.

The sparkling Thrifty Drug will be inaugurated with a ribbon-cutting ceremony attended by civic dignitaries and company executives. Representing Pleasant Hill will be Leonard Grote, Mayor of Pleasant Hill; City Manager L. Walton and William Weil, Chamber of Commerce President. Directing the ribbon-cutting for Thrifty will be Manny Borun, Vice-President of the huge chain; Bill Henry, Director of Store Operations; and Robert L. Mallory, Manager of the Contra Costa Center.

The shopping convenience and pleasure of the customer has been the key factor in design of the new store. Everything possible has been incorporated to create a shopping facility of the highest order. Every convenience and extra service of contemporary merchandising has been included: eye level gondolas and display racks placing merchandise within easy reach of the customer; extra wide aisles for more roominess; the finest soft lighting with maximum candle power focused on the merchandise, etc., and of course air conditioning and background hi-fi music. The Pleasant Hill Thrifty Drug has been described by company officials as the ultimate in drug, variety and junior department store merchandising.

The new Thrifty Drug will cover more than 18,000 square feet of floor space scientifically laid out in 52 departments to carry more than 25,000 separate items of drug, variety and department store merchandise.

Pleasant Hill residents will be interested in the four special prize drawings scheduled each Saturday beginning July 13th, with the final drawing on August 3rd, awarding a magnificent Decca "Palmer III" stereo console to the first place winner.

Twenty additional prizes will be awarded during the four Saturday night drawings and include such valuable merchandise as RCA transistor radios, Norelco Shavers, General Electric radios, irons and can openers, a Philco clock radio, etc.

One of the key departments of the new Thrifty Drug is the well-stocked sports department.

A huge selection of the finest sporting equipment will be featured here, including everything from badminton and tennis to golf and football. Fishermen will find tackle, poles, bait boxes and a complete line of accessories to fill their requirements. Baseball players from little-league to semi-professional will find sound values on approved baseball equipment. All types of camping equipment are also featured here.

A large housewares department will showcase a vast selection of glassware, flatware, and a full line of utensils, plus a giant stock of soaps, detergents, mops, brushes and other cleaning items.

A gardening department and hardware department are included with all types of garden tools and accessories, hoses, sprinklers, insecticides, hand tools, electrical equipment, paints, brushes and hundreds of similar items found here.

The huge cosmetic section will feature complete "treatment" lines from Richard Hudnut, DuBarry, Dorothy Gray, Helena Rubenstein, and many others, plus "fragrance" lines from Revlon, Coty, Dana, Tussy and Lanvin, among others. Also a wide selection of men's toiletries will be included.

Stationery, photography, toys, wheel goods, outdoor furniture, power lawn mowers, nursery and baby needs, kitchenware, men's, women's and children's clothing, electrical appliances and thousands of other items will be found throughout the other departments.

The operational heart of the Contra Costa Center store, and of every Thrifty Drug Store, is the Bonded Prescription Department. Each prescription filled is certified to be compounded precisely as the doctor prescribed. This year over 3,000,000 prescriptions will be filled by pharmacists in the Thrifty chain. Only top brand pharmaceuticals from such renowned firms as Parke-Davis, Abbott, Squibb, Winthrop, Upjohn, Ciba, Lilly, and others of the same quality, are compounded by experienced pharmacists who work in the most modern functional facilities that modern research has yet devised.

Service departments in the new store include cosmetics, prescription, tobacco, beverage, jewelry, camera and photo developing. Other departments are self service.

"The tremendous variety of merchandise sold in the Pleasant Hill Thrifty Drug Store make it an exciting place to shop," said Manager Mallory. "Thrifty customers can get more of the things desired to raise their standard of living, at the lowest possible prices. It is this type of merchandising that has built Thrifty into the largest drug, variety and junior department store chain in the West," he continued.

'No-See-Um'---But You Can Feel Them

By GLADYS SHALLY

Have you been suffering with some mountain-sized mosquito bites of late?

Big welts that last from a week to 10 days and itch like fury?

Yet you never did see the mosquito?

Well, chances are a mosquito was not guilty, but the bites were inflicted by an almost invisible bloodthirsty gnat aptly called a "no-see-um."

INDIANS first used this name for several species of tiny blood-sucking pests that plagued them each spring.

No-see-ums belong to a little known family of minute gnats closely related to mosquitoes. So small that they could readily pass through a fine screen, some are called midges, sand-flies or punkies. Not all are biting gnats. Some are even beneficial to man. The larvae of the phantom midge feed on mosquito larvae.

Only the female of the biting gnat feeds upon blood and is most pestiferous to human and animals, leaving itching welts much larger than those produced by mosquitoes or deer flies 100 times their size. (The smallest of the biting midges is .004" long.) The male no-see-um is a strict vegetarian, like the male mosquito.

Some species of this group attack other insects, riding the wings of dragon-flies or lace wings, in order to drink from the veins of their host. (What about those bites!)

While some gnats do their hunting in the cool of the evening and morning, others like only hot, muggy days.

THE VALLEY black gnat prefers bright, sunny days, when the temperature is over 70.

No-see-ums tend to become inactive if the wind velocity is over five miles per hour. The female usually starts her operations after 10 a.m. when it begins to warm up, but likes to work in the shade. She is as tenacious as she is voracious and cannot be frightened away.

You might use the word "operations" literally, for with horny mouth parts, she actually punctures the skin with lancet and saw.

An infinitesimal amount of saliva is then injected into the victim to thin the blood so that it may be readily drawn up. The bite itself is not painful, although a tiny sting may be felt, then there is a delayed, but long-lasting reaction.

Imagine what would happen to us if the "poison" of a mosquito bite were in proportion to that of the no-see-ums!

tection from these gnats, as they will readily sneak into the slightest opening.

Preferred biting sites seem to be about the waist, the neck line, the bend of the elbow, or the ankle.

The no-see-ums particularly like to attack humans about the head during strenuous outside activities on hot days—sometimes humming a faint high-pitched, mosquito-like song as they prospect for a place to strike.

We should be thankful that our local no-see-ums are loners when at work and not gregarious as they are in the North Woods.

During the height of the gnat season, workers in both industrial and agricultural operations have been known to refuse to work in areas of intense gnat-biting activity. Even country clubs in gnat infested areas have reported reduced patronage.

The most prevalent no-see-ums in our area, valley black gnat variety, are found primarily along the west side of the Central Valley and also in a number of smaller coastal valleys where there is clay-adobe soil.

The female enters cracks in the dried clay soil to deposit her eggs. When the rainy season begins in the fall, the eggs hatch and the young worm-like larvae burrow down.

Entomologists at UC, Davis, have recovered larvae at soil depths from 18 inches to three feet!

WHEN THE CLAY soil again cracks open in the spring, there is a short pupation period, after which the adult emerges—out for blood.

Nature seems to be on the side of these vicious little varmints.

Should conditions prevent the cracking of the soil, the no-see-um larvae merely goes into a state of torpidity. Depending upon circumstances, this may extend for several years. (If we could discover their secret, think of the aid to space travel!)

The adult flight period is of short duration, usually but a few weeks. However, no-see-ums have been recorded as early as the last of April and as late as mid-July.

As has been said, the minute gnats could pass through window screens, but happily, they prefer the outdoors for their attacks.

No-see-ums are not indestructible—if a black dot happens to be spotted in the process of biting it can be easily crushed.

ON THE OTHER hand, these black gnats seem impervious to common repellents and control sprays which are used effectively against mosquitoes.

Mist spraying by airplane for adult gnat control has shown poor results.

Chemical control has been tried in areas where thousands of acres are producing gnats, but this has proved both costly and inefficient, according to the State Bureau of Vector Control.

While some individual humans seem immune to gnat bites, others are highly allergic to them.

It's a sure bet that if fleas and mosquitoes like you, no-see-ums will find you delectable.

On the bright side, just as there are claims that bee stings aid arthritis, so mosquito bites are said to be a deterrent to hardening of the arteries. Therefore, if a gnat bite is a 100 times stronger—!

Authorities do not agree that "no-see-um" is a proper term for all biting gnats, midges and punkies.

If you are one who is pestered by little "mosquitoes" that aren't there, then there should be no argument about their being no-see-ums.

Correct name or not, their bite is terrible and they have probably many times been called by other more descriptive, but less printable names.

Higher Assessment Ok Despite Gripes: Jury

While the county grand jury also had strong praise for conducting the assessor's primary duty, property assessment, despite the fact that thousands of property owners annually complain about increased assessments, the jury's taxes and assessments committee held that "the Assessor has established a sound program of continuing reassessment" of all parcels in the county.

Committee Chairman Robert Kahn of Lafayette explained that the improved procedures came after the State Board of Equalization found county assessments "significantly below" the state-wide average.

BECAUSE assessments were out of line for several years, initial corrections were "rather large in many cases," Kahn noted.

But, he said, "In future years the changes should be more moderate."

While increased assessment on land and improvements have been adequate, assessment of personal property is rendered difficult by false inventory statements and the fact that many companies owning property here maintain accounting records outside the state.

A field audit program established by the assessor in 1960 has enabled the county to check these out-of-state records, Kahn noted.

CHAIN-STORES and other organizations which operate in many California counties are also becoming liable to closer checks through a cooperative program with other county assessors.

To continue efforts in the area of assessments of personal property, the committee recommended:

1. That the assessor and the board of supervisors continue their pressure to obtain selected sales tax data from the State Board of Equalization to use as a guide to their field audit program—both local and out of state.

2. That the board of supervisors use the tool of public disclosure as a means of inducing more accurate reporting of values of personal property.

TO THIS END, the jury said, we recommend that the board publicly disclose at least once a year the names of firms who, upon field audit, are determined to have reported voluntarily the value of personal property in an amount more than 10 per cent below the true value of the personal property.

3. That when such incorrect reports indicate a pattern of intentional fraud, as evidenced by the continuity over a period of years and over a number of locations, that the assessor be directed to turn these cases over to the district attorney for criminal prosecution of the person or officer signing the sworn affidavit.

The jury noted that procedures for assessment of property are established by the State Board of Equalization, which, each year, tests the assessed valuation in each county to insure uniform statewide assessment procedures.

Federal Study of East Bay Setup Asked by Kuchel

WASHINGTON — Compilation and publication of statistical data on trade, population and other aspects of economic life on a basis which clearly reflects the importance of fast-growing East Bay communities has been urged on Federal officials by U. S. Senator Thomas H. Kuchel of California.

The assistant senate Republican leader, at the request of Alameda County officials, wrote the Bureau of the Budget recently that he believes postwar progress warrants designating Alameda, Contra Costa and Solano counties as a distinct metropolitan area for statistical purposes.

The senior California senator urged a change in connection with prospective revision of the formula followed by the Census Bureau and other Federal units in establishing such geographical entities.

Kuchel's endorsement of a separate metropolitan area with Oakland as the hub followed receipt of information that a Budget official recently discussed the need for such action with state and area representatives and revealed that some changes in the present San Francisco-Oakland metropolitan area are being weighed.

The California senator's letter to the chairman of the interdepartmental committee with responsibility for making such decisions emphasized the rate of growth of the East Bay sector and pointed to many factors Kuchel feels merit designation of a separate statistical area.

$173,806 in Users Tax

SACRAMENTO — Senator George Miller, Jr. announced last week that Contra Costa County received $173,806 as its share of highway users taxes distributed in June by State Controller Alan Cranston's office.

Statewide apportionments for the month totaled $87,979,609, compared with $87,072,261 distributed during the same month a year ago, Cranston said.

Of the total, $76,790,219 went into the State Highway Fund for expenditure on highways, $8,055,684 to the counties, and $3,133,706 to the State Highway Fund for cities.

The amount distributed was comprised of $30,083,578 from the gasoline tax, $55 million by transfer from the Motor Vehicle Fund (registration fees), $2,178,364 from the diesel fuel tax, $717,083 by transfer from the Motor Vehicle Transportation Tax Fund (truck tax) and the balance from miscellaneous sources.

This county received $4406.25 for heavy rainfall and storm damage; and $28,669.63 for "other" expenses under section 2104 of the Highway Users Tax Fund.

Contra Costa received $123,186.02 under the section that provides for the counties to get one cent of the gas tax revenues.

Per section 2115 (3/4 cent per gallon), Contra Costa $19,544.19.

Los Gatos Man Named Head Of Smog Board

Col. Alberto E. Merrill of Los Gatos today was elected chairman of the board of directors of the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District.

Kenneth G. Cheatham of San Leandro was elected vice chairman, and Dr. Charles W. Aby of San Rafael, secretary.

Sidney D. Herker of Redwood City was appointed a new member of the district's board of directors, replacing the late Lester B. Morgan of Burlingame.

Merrill is a councilman and former mayor of Los Gatos, representing municipalities of Santa Clara County on the Bay Area APCD Board.

Since 1960, he has served as a member of the district's board of directors and as a director of Santa Clara County Sanitation District No. 4.

For Fall--What Little Girls, Big Girls Like

Know what little girls . . .
and big girls are made of for Back-to-School - Fall fashions
'63?

They're made of tweeds and flannels, fine wools, flat knit and bulky sweaters in salt and pepper weaves.

They're tailored in the simple, conservative outlook of man-tailoring.

They're spiced with subtle, impish humor in the use of suedecloth, mad plaids, madras and paisley for accent, accessory and coordinating touches.

They wear new look vests,
V-neck or traditional cardigan Shetland sweaters, turtle-neck stretch-knit tops.

They love shirts in solids, long sleeve with convertible or button-down collars, in fall-tone shades such as celery green, gold, cream, white, pink, blue and grey. Shirts also pick up autumn garden and drum prints in fall-trend colors as well as a fine London stripe shirting, perfect with the button-down collar.

Speaking of flannel, there's a complete wardrobe of designs for fall using this favorite "Madison Avenue" cloth in shifts, shorts, skirts and suits.

A variation of this fabric is seen in an Eton stripe group, adding an English pin-stripe to the flannel in a sincerely conservative group of styles that stand on their own in fashion and fit.

In wide weave tweeds look for the young New Yorker collection, trimmed in genuine suede, even to an evening skirt! sure to start conversation wherever worn, especially with a long sleeve rayon white shirt topped by kerchief tie.

Diagonal tweed makes a perfect partner with its group mates or mixed with any of the versions tailored in Red Fleece, another new slightly shaggy, lightly bulky pure wool group.

Corduroy is ever-present in wide-wale; and suedecloth is an equally strong contender with a byrard of new uses.

Cotton patchwork and wallpaper prints a re quilted to pick up a flash style sensation begun last season and carry it to full potential. obthin groups tha stand alone or mate beautifully.

The girl loves her pin-dot cotton, long-sleeved shirt with Gambler's Bow tie or suedecloth vest, both planned for accessorizing her wardrobe.

Also, her long sleeve shirt with zip cowl or the stretch knit nylon top in long sleeve and turtle neck.

Another new contender for style honors is the full-fashioned sweater with either V-neck placket front or cardigan button-front.

Don't leave out the season's single biggest style story:
Stretch Pants, tailored in a new way, with side zip and stirrups in a flannel stretch.

For the lovers of comfort and the "little girl look" that's always becoming, take a look at the new pinafore dresses with pearl snap fasteners.
Available in cotton madras for transition—early fall or flannel for winter.

Also, look to the double-breasted tailoring in many of the shifts and jackets . . . another old favorite coming back strong.

In 1906, seven years before the establishment of the Contra Costa County Library in 1913, the Concord Library and Reading Room was founded as a private subscription library by a group of interested citizens who met together and formed a library association.

Soon after the founding of the County Library, Concord Library joined the county system to share in its larger book resources.

The occasion for this brief glimpse into history is the observance July 21 of the 50th anniversary of the establishment of the Contra Costa County Library in 1913.

Library is '50'-Concord '57'

All branches are joining with the Central Library at Pleasant Hill in reviewing their past and appreciating the present.

The first location of the Concord library was the old Fire Hall on Willow Pass Road. In 1913, the library was moved to a small structure near the Lenvenson and Randall buildings, and in 1914 quarters were obtained in the Foskett and Elworthy Building at Salvio and Galindo Streets.

After Carnegie funds were obtained in 1916, the 1102 square foot building in the City Plaza was constructed and served as the Concord Library for 42 years, until October 1958, when the present library at 2900 Salvio Street was opened.

Shortly after the move to the new library, the old building was torn down. Now all that remains is a small patch of lawn.

Looking at that bit of grass today, it is difficult to visualize how, just four years ago, 16,000 to 18,000 books were borrowed there each month, and more than 180,000 books were lent during the last full year at the Plaza location.

DURING Concord Library's first year as a branch of the County Library (1913-1914), the total book collection numbered 801 volumes and only 1196 books were borrowed during the year.

Population of Concord at that time was less than 900, compared with a population of about 55,000 today.

The library was open evenings from 7 to 9 p.m. and Saturday afternoons.

Today the library is open 11 hours a day, five days a week, and eight hours on Saturdays.

During the fiscal year 1962-63, more than 340,000 books were borrowed, or about six books per person as compared with little more than one book per person in 1913.

The book collection at Concord now numbers more than 40,000 volumes, with ready access to the County Library's collection of about 433,000 volumes.

During the 1950's, the library went through a long period of crisis during which the staff valiantly juggled books and space in an attempt to serve the exploding population of Concord, which grew from a village of 1373 population in 1940 to a city of 36,208 by 1960.

Finally, through the cooperation of the City of Concord, the Concord branch of the American Association of University Women, the Concord Library League, and the County Librarian, plans for a new building were begun in 1956 and actual construction began in 1958.

A great dream of the people of Concord was realized when on October 17, 1959, the doors to the present beautiful and spacious library building were opened.

The Concord Branch of the Contra Costa County Library is located at 2900 Salvio Street in the Civic Center and is open Mondays through Fridays from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. and on Saturdays from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Have Your Dog Tagged

A. L. Sealey, agricultural commissioner, announced that effective Monday, July 8, a dog licensing door-to-door canvass will be commenced in Contra Costa County.

The Animal Control Division, under the direction of Wallace C. Donovan, Jr., will conduct this year's partial survey in a number of areas throughout the county.

Donovan said that the first part of the survey will include a portion of the city of Concord.

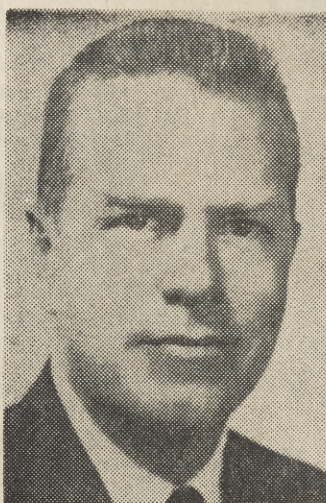

Citizens should be reminded, said Donovan, that Contra Costa County is still a rabies endemic area, and this requires all dogs over the age of four months to have a rabies vaccination.

Donovan further states that deadline for licensing without penalty was March 31 and for all unlicensed dogs over the age of four months the owners will be required to pay the $2 fee, unless the dog owner is a new county resident within the past 30 days.

Winning second semester honors were 22 from the graduating class, 16 juniors, 22 sophomores and 30 freshmen.

Among those named to the Dean's List was Robert M. Cory, Class of 1965, son of Mrs. Jeanne T. Cory, 3838 S. Peardale Drive, Lafayette.

Grangers Plan Big Day At County Fair Aug. 3

The program of the Contra Costa County Fair (July 32 to August 4) at Antioch, lists a very special day for Saturday, August 3.

This is the second Annual Grange Day, honoring and inviting all past and present members of the California Grange movement.

Spearheading the group into action and the culmination of this special day at this year's county fair was Dr. Carl A. Fiedler, 775 El Pintado, Danville.

Dr. Fiedler is a past Master of the Danville Grange No. 85, but now holds a post in the Pomona Grange, which comprises all of the Grange lodges in Contra Costa County: Danville, Brentwood, Clayton, Pleasant Hill and Martinez.

DANVILLE GRANGE No. 85, under the expert guidance of Henry DeCoursey will again seek prizes in this year's county fair.

Their entry this year will tie in with the theme of "Water Wonderland," and their booth in the Agricultural-Home Economics Building will describe their progress in Grange activities and agricultural advances due to water.

Also to be entered in the Home Economics classifications are handicrafts skillfully created by the women Grangers. Hank and Betty DeCoursey are exhibits chairmen for this year's fair.

Master Fred Litke of the Martinex Grange will chairman the booth from his city, and expects to again show the others how it's done when he carries home the first award ribbon, as in last year's exhibition.

Although much legislative action is demanding the majority of time of the state officers, it is expected that a number of them will be on hand at the 5:30 p.m. dedication services at the fairgrounds, when a Fruitless Mulberry tree will be dedicated officially to the Grange movement.

This dedication service is open to all fairgoers and Grangers from all over the state are expected to attend.

Third Annual Red Cross Aquatic Show Is Tuesday

Some 1500 youngsters and parents from communities throughout the greater Bay Area are expected to turn out next week for the third annual Red Cross free aquatic show slated this year for Tuesday.

Sponsored by the Bay Area Council of Red Cross Chapters, the 1963 edition of this annual event will feature as its theme "The Wonderful World of Pinocchio," and will be emceed by television's "Miss Nancy" of KTVU's Romper Room Show. Pinocchio, diving clowns and other characters from the famous children's classic will perform humorous and sometimes impossible antics which are designed to both entertain as well as demonstrate to the youngsters good water safety techniques.

The entire show, which gets underway at 1:30 p.m., will be held at the Temescal Pool.

The pool is located at 371 45th Street, Oakland, adjacent to Oakland Technical High School. The program is free and open under the direction of Oakland Recreation Department official Bob Shearer.

Featured as Pinocchio in the event will be Red Cross water safety instructor Kathy Hamburg who also leads the "Swim to Live" program at Temescal to the general public.

Tidewater Marked Plants --Smog Board Discovers

Extensive laboratory analysis and field investigation by the Bay Area Pollution Control District last week concluded that air-borne markings to vegetation over a 20-square-mile area of northern Contra Costa County in mid-May originated at the Tidewater Hydrogen Generating Plant at Avon.

The district reported its findings at the regular meeting of its board of directors, noting that a patented absorption process for carbon-dioxide at the Tidewater refinery seems chemically like arsenic trioxide and potassium carbonate solution which tests found to produce similar vegetation markings.

The report concluded that Tidewater either should discontinue use of arsenic in its hydrogen generating process or should provide safety devices and immediate shutdown procedure in the event of equipment failure.

THE DISTRICT served notice that it will require immediate action to prevent future release of excessive levels of arsenic compounds.

The district's investigations disclosed that sulfur dioxide or sulfuric acid emissions, which had at first been suspected as the cause, would not account for the arsenic samples.

The district staff collected and analyzed over 150 samples, tracing the source to the Tidewater plant through the consistent presence of arsenic in the plant spottings.

Further investigation by the Contra Costa County Health Department disclosed that no incidents involving other industrial arsenic compounds, such as railroads or airplane spray tank accidents had occurred during 1963.

A CHECK of industrial operations in this area which extended from the Avon industrial complex, easterly, through Port Chicago and Pittsburg, by the Bay Area APCD also found no

Easter Seal Gets $25,000 From County Residents

A record amount of $24,732.71 has been contributed by Contra Costa County residents to the 1963 Easter Seal Campaign, it was announced recently by Daniel Fletcher, president of the Easter Seal Society for crippled children and adults of Contra Costa County.

Fletcher said that contributions to date have fallen short of the $30,000 campaign goal, but represented a seven per cent increase over the amount contributed by June 30, 1962.

In a special appeal to Contra Costa County residents who have not responded to the 1963 appeal, Fletcher said, "We are slowly closing the gap between the amount contributed and the 1963 goal. If everyone who has not yet responded would send a contribution of at least $1, the $30,000 goal could easily be reached by August 31, the close of our fiscal year."

FLETCHER ADDED that contributions can be sent to Easter Seal headquarters, 240 South Sixth Street, Richmond. Services of the Easter Seal Society of Contra Costa County include a rehabilitation workshop at the Sixth Street address and a recently opened activity center in Richmond.

Shade-Loving Plants

Plants of a shade-loving nature are relatively plentiful in Contra Costa nurseries, but there's a world of difference in the degree of shade they will tolerate.

Some "shade" plants will sulk when given too much shade, while others adapt to whatever amount you give them. The problem, obviously, is to find the right plant for the shady place you want to plant it.

ALL PLANTS like some light—this every gardener knows. But there are a few which will thrive even when the shade is dense and uncompromising. Fatsihedera, for instance, that hybrid offspring of two unlikely parents—ivy and Japanese aralia—is one you can count on for the darkest corners of your landscape.

It will grow in the dense shade of a corridor or under the dark overhang of a front porch eave. There are other plants which grow under such conditions, but many will sulk and grow rangy; their foliage is lustreless and they obviously need more light.

Fuchsias are shade lovers, but many gardeners make the mistake of giving them too much shade. The result, as indicated above, is a lackluster quality, a shortage of bloom and generally sub-par performance.

Fuchsias live in shade and like it, but make sure that they get enough light to keep their foliage full and fresh. With this requirement met, they will give you profuse bloom from late spring until late fall.

MEMBERS of the California Association of Nurserymen have many varieties of fuchsias in bloom right now, so if you're looking for color to fill that not-too-shaded corner, dry by and have your pick.

Among the plant families that thrive in shaded spots are the ferns. It would take more space than we have to describe all the different ferns available in California, but a visit to your local nursery will uncover more than you can probably use in your garden. These are the essence of beauty in summer gardens—cool and refreshing even on the hottest days.

Garden CHECK-LIST
PREPARED BY THE CALIFORNIA ASSOCIATION OF NURSERYMEN

1. Tall bearded iris may be planted now. New varieties are available.
2. Ivy geraniums will bloom longer and look better if you trim the plants back now and then as old bloom starts to fade.
3. Water potted geraniums, begonias and fuchsias more often than you would if they were planted in the ground.
4. Plant Bird of Paradise now for fall and winter bloom. Give them a warm, sunny exposure.
5. Plant zinnias, scarlet sage, marigolds and other annuals for a midsummer shot of color in the garden.

2500 to Receive EBMUD Water—May Be Cloudy

Between July 9 and July 16, more than 2500 residents of Local Improvement District 17 in Walnut Creek will begin to receive East Bay Municipal Utility District water.

On July 9, the more than 700 services formerly connected to Contra Costa County Water District mains officially became part of East Bay MUD.

It will take more than a week to convert all of these services to the new system.

During that time some LID 17 residents may notice an increase in their water pressure, and there may be some cloudiness noticeable in the water, said Don Larkin, manager of the Water Production and Distribution Division.

The cloudiness will be due to a reversal in the direction of flow through some of the mains as they are disconnected from the CCCWD lines and attached to East Bay MUD mains.

The condition will be temporary and is not harmful, he said. Any questions on the new service should be directed to EBMUD's Walnut Creek business office.

Schwarz Gives Local Speeches

Dr. Fred Schwarz, president of the Christian Anti-Communism Crusade, was the main speaker at two Bay Area meetings this week.

Wednesday he spoke at the Hotel Claremont in Berkeley.

Yesterday Schwarz spoke at the Jack Tar Hotel in San Francisco.

AT THIS TIME of year, when shade is a prime consideration of garden enjoyment, the use of two tuberous plants can be especially pleasant. Tuberous begonias, which may be bought in bloom at nurseries now, and cyclamen, also available in bloom, are exotic spots for any shaded spot.

There was a time when the above two were incompatible for the simple reason that tuberous begonias were summer-blooming and cyclamen were winter-blooming. Hybridizing and house methods of forcing, however, have given us cyclamen that bloom from summer on into winter, and the gardener who doesn't take advantage of this to plant them with begonias is missing a good bet.

THE TWO "RIVALS" both have the same cultural requirements. They like shaded spots, but not too shaded, please. They like bi-monthly feeding with fish emulsion and frequent watering. If they sulk at any time, it is usually because of too much shade, so beware this possibility.

Among the larger shrubs which will thrive in shade spots, none is showier under such conditions than the hydrangea. Now at the peak of its bloom in some CAN nurseries, this large-flowered beauty can be transplanted into the garden for a big show of instant color.

THERE ARE several shades of pink available in the hydrangea family—some bordering on the mahogany side. White and blue flowered varieties are also found, though the latter should have some iron aluminum sulfate added to the soil to keep them that color.

Look, too, for the golden-flecked acuba, or gold dust plant. It takes a considerable amount of shade and always maintains a glossy leaved appearance, in spite of it. The foliage is full and dense, which is the indicator of shade tolerance in the plant world. Aucubas are also available in solid green varieties, and if you plant both male and female shrubs, the result will be beautiful glossy red berries in late fall and winter.

There are many other shade-loving plants, as you'll find, but none that gives a better performance than this.

Savings Assn. Shows Gain

Resources of Berkeley Savings and Loan Association reflect a 33.9 per cent increase over the mid-year mark of a year ago.

The association reached $184,103,888 in resources, Sherman Miller, executive vice president and managing officer, announced recently.

Naval Ammunition Depot At Concord is Renamed

What has been a rumor for several days became a confirmed fact on July 1 when the Naval Ammunition Depot at Concord received official notice from the Secretary of the Navy that the depot's new official designation is U. S. Naval Weapons Station Concord.
In announcing this name change, Captain W. L. Savidge, commanding officer, stated: "This is long overdue recognition. It acknowledges the vast change and expansion of the Station's mission which has taken place with the advent of space age weaponry."
THE LOCAL facility requested the name change as long ago as 1959.
In the past decade, with the shift from conventional ordnance to the more sophisticated missiles and weapons, the station has kept pace with the vast technological advances and has been assigned many new programs by the Bureau of Naval Weapons.
The Quality Evaluation Laboratory has expanded its testing procedures and is recognized as one of the foremost non-destructive testing centers in the world.
These test procedures play a major role in the reliability of weapons used in National defense.
An Advanced Weapons Division and a Guided Missile Facility are other new additions to the capability of the Station in contributing to the country's defense effort.
WITH THE assignment of these many new tasks, the station continues to be the major overseas transshipment point for ammunition for the armed forces.
Over 95 per cent of the ammunition supplied to all the services in the Pacific area is being shipped by Naval Weapons Station Concord.
In connection with this extensive supply function is the task of inspecting and testing ammunition, material and weapons assigned the station.

Almost $2 Million in Motor Fees Shared Here

City and county treasuries throughout the state shared in an apportionment of $32,114,994 as their final allocation of motor vehicle fee revenues for the six-month period which ended May 31.

State Controller Alan Cranston said Contra Costa County's final share was $417,886.15.

This apportionment was based on a county population figure of 409,030.

The June apportionment was $1,642,134.15. An April advance of $1,224,248.00, however, deducted from the final figure.

THE CITY of Walnut Creek received a June total of $69,131.61. Its June payment, however, was $29,335.61 because of an April advance.

Pleasant Hill received $132,853.79 with its June payment $31,326.79, also because of an advance.

Walnut Creek's apportionment was based on a population of 13,700.

Pleasant Hill's population was rated as 26,328.

Walnut Creek's population increased 2280 due to finance estimates and 111 due to annexation, the state reported.

CRANSTON said the third and final apportionment brought to $135,953,384 the total amount distributed to cities and counties from this source during the 1962-63 fiscal year, compared with $123,578,653 the year before.

The money is allocated on a population basis, half the total going to the cities and half to the counties.

The recent allocation amounted to $5.45 for each city resident and $4.32 for each county resident.

The population of cities, based on Department of Finance estimates, was fixed at 12,504,683, an increase of 539,945 from last year.

By law the 1960 federal census figure of 15,717,204 was used for the counties' computation.

The controller explained that the fees, because they take the place of a property tax on vehicles, may be used by the cities and counties for general purposes.

Ball Is on the Ball At Brigham Young

Cadet John Price Ball of Pleasant Hill has completed the first year curriculum in air science of a four year program at Brigham Young University, Utah.

Okay Post Annex Lines

Boundaries for the proposed Post Annexation to the City of Walnut Creek were approved last week by the Contra Costa County Boundary Commission.

The 6.4-acre parcel south of Castle Hill Road and west of South Main Street, is proposed for annexation by Rudolph C. Post, P.O. Box 171, Walnut Creek.

The commission also approved boundaries around the proposed 22-acre Maita Annexation in the San Ramon Village for annexation to the Valley Community Services District.

Lopez Resigns School Post

Carlos O. Lopez, who in 1955 assisted with the establishment of the Hazel Woolley School for mentally retarded children of East Contra Costa County and who has been associated with it ever since as teacher or teacher-supervisor, has resigned to accept a position with the Santa Cruz County superintendent of schools.

Lopez' letter of resignation was tendered the Contra Costa County Board of Education July 3.

In his new position Lopez will serve as consultant in special education.

A 'Golden Age' in Children's Literature

By BETTY BACON
County Library Staff

Between 1900 and 1913, the year the Contra Costa County Library was established, children's literature went through a period of drastic change.

Happily gone were the dull, puritanical books of the Victorians, in which morals dripped from every page; but the golden age of children's literature, which began in the 1920's, was still

In the future.

The children who came to the library in 1913 would have found the great 19th century classics—"Treasure Island," "Little Women," "Alice of Wonderland," "The Adventures of Tom Sawyer," and "The Blue Fairy Book."

He would have found, too, a number of minor classics which English and American publishers were issuing in the early days of the 20th century—"Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm" by Kate Douglas Wiggin, "The Secret Garden" by Frances Hodgson Burnett, and "The Five Little Peppers" by Margaret Sidney; but these were quite likely to be competing with "series" books that went from mediocre to bad.

CHILDREN'S LIBRARIANS were beginning to fight for high quality in children's literature, but many a library still had copies of "Tom Swift" and "Elsie Dinsmore."

To be sure, many adults remember these books with affection, yet anyone who tries to read them in the days of his maturity is certain to be disappointed with the flat characters, improbable incidents, and uninspired style.

One book from these years just before World War I deserves by Kenneth Grahame. This set a standard for fantasy that has been unequalled since.

If a number of the fiction titles for boys and girls of 50 years ago are still familiar today, the same cannot be said of either picture books or books on science.

Two English artists of that time did indeed set a new standard for children's picture books—Beatrix Potter with "The Tale of Peter Rabbit" and L. Leslie Brooke with "Johnny Crow's Garden."

THESE BOOKS ARE as beloved nowadays as they were when they appeared in the early 1900's; but they are almost the only picture books for small children of which this can be said.

Color process printing was well established by 1913, but the widespread use of the offset press for children's picture books had not yet occurred. Picture books for the very young were usually drab and often silly.

The child of 1913 was likely to get his science with a heavy coating of sugar.

Thornton W. Burgess had started his almost endless series of books about highly personified animals.

A usual pattern in informational books of the time presented a dear old professor who instructed his young listeners on some topic ad infinitum and ad nauseam.

THE IDEA THAT boys and girls might be eager for information for its own sake was still waiting for the great changes in education that were to come in the 1920's.

Today, 50 years after the establishment of the Contra Costa County Library, boys and girls can find a wealth of well-written, well-illustrated books in even the smallest branch of the county library system.

Modern public library book selection aims to provide the best in children's books.

Instead of "The Hardy Boys" or "Tom Swift" the young reader will find more substantial food for intellectual growth and recreation in, for example, the "Little House" books by Laura Ingalls Wilder, E. B. White's modern fantasy classic, "Charlotte's Web" or Robert McCloskey's hilarious stories about Homer Price.

On the picture book shelf, beside Peter Rabbit and Johnny Crow, stands Wanda Gág's "Millions of Cats," Ludwig Bemelmans' "Madeline," Bruno Munari's "A B C," and a host of others.

The present-day science book, with its excellent writing and handsome illustrations, is represented by such titles as "The Wonderful World of Mathematics" by Lancelot Hogben and "Minn of the Mississippi" by Hollings C. Holling.

"It is a 'golden age' indeed when children have so many riches from which to choose," says Mrs. Elizabeth Lockhart, supervisor of Children's Services in the Contra Costa County Library system.

TOP CHEMIST—Student David Worthington (left) was recently named outstanding chemistry student at Miramonte High by the American Chemical Society. Checking over some of the chemistry work completed by Dave this year at Miramonte is his instructor, Joseph Davis, who helped author the national "Chem Study" materials that Dave has mastered. Dave will attend Harvey Mudd College, Claremont, this fall.

Will Present 'Stalag 17'

The Dramateurs will present their summer production, "Stalag 17" Friday and Saturday, July 19 and 20 at the Lafayette Town Hall.

Curtain time is 8:30 each Friday and Saturday. The set, designed by Peter Palm, is the interior of a German P.W. barrack, formally known as "Stalag 17."

Perry Palin, in charge of the set construction crew, has built the drab interior and the bunk in which the whole action takes place.

THIS MELODRAMATIC comedy, as written by D. J. Bevan, portrays the mental outlook of the confined prisoners and their problems when they find that by some means all their plans to escape are readily known to their captors.

Taking advantage of the Christmas season, the time of the action, the author brings humor into the otherwise grim situation by the paradoxical presents the men receive through the efforts of the Red Cross.

This play has always been a favorite to audiences, and was made into a very well received motion picture a few years ago. It has an all-male cast of local residents.

To those familiar with Dramateur productions, the direction by Carl Rasmussen, insures the viewer an exceptionally good evening of entertainment.

Reservations should be made now, either by phoning 254-3009 or by contacting the Seven Arts Book Store in Walnut Creek.

To Hamilton AFB
Airman Second Class Robert W. Toone Jr. of Walnut Creek is being reassigned to Hamilton AFB following his graduation from the United States Air Force technical training course at Keeler AFB, Mississippi.

Toone, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Toone of 218 Los Cerritos Avenue, was trained in airport traffic control and radar approach control operation techniques.

MEAT?

Well, let's not talk about the fact that we have the best in town. Everyone knows that. Once in a while, someone comes in and asks us a question like, "How come your steaks are so tender and juicy?" Well, how are you going to answer that one? But most of the time the questions are answerable, and most of our customers seem to get a big kick out of being told how to cook a roast or make lasagne or veal scallopini and we get a kick out of it too. Especially, when they come back and say how good it was! My wife sez I go around giving customers advice on how to cook and I can't tell her. What do I tell her? "What the heck, tell em anything, nobody can spoil our meat no matter how they cook it."

Winston Booberman said it better the other day, "You'll NEVER buy BETTER meat than at Ferraro's, 1242 Broadway Shopping Center."

Don't Look At the Sun On July 20

April 8, 1960, 170 Australians—Blind Committee. He emphasizes knowledge of the universe, but—principally school children—suffered permanent eye damage and partial loss of central vision in watching an eclipse of the sun.

In 1960, 21 cases of complete blindness were reported in Utah. Similar eye damage may be anticipated over most of North America July 20, the date of our next solar eclipse, total from Alaska to Maine. A partial eclipse will be visible over most of the continent.

There is real risk of eye damage in viewing an eclipse according to many local eye experts. Makeshift methods include dark photographic negatives, glass that has been smoked over a candle, or a card with a pinhole opening.

NONE OF THESE devices is completely safe. Looking directly into the sun, even for a few seconds, involves the possibility of permanent retinal damage. Unfortunately, sunglasses are no answer to the problem.

A piece of photo film, overexposed on its entire surface and developed, provides the best and simplest protection.

A safe alternative is a simple pinhole camera. Punch a clean hole in one end of a shoebox with a pin or needle.

In a darkened room, paint the pinhole over your shoulder, directly at the sun. On the inside surface of the other end of the box you can see a clearly defined solar image.

A SOLAR eclipse has a deservedly popular appeal, according to Dr. Alvin Fridy, who is co-chairman of the Lafayette Lions Sight Conservation and

VIETNAM BOUND—Lt. Bill Danforth of Lafayette will leave for a 12-month tour of duty in Vietnam. With him is his brother John, and Son, Bill Allen (on lap).

Lt. Danforth to Serve 12 Months in Vietnam

Lt. Bill Danforth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Danforth, 3334 N. Lucille Lane, Lafayette, will leave August 31 for a 12-month tour of duty in South Vietnam.

Danforth will participate in an advisory status in the present guerrilla warfare.

Vietnam today is the only area in the world where an American soldier can earn his combat stripes.

THOUGH HIS assignment is unknown, Danforth will probably be assigned to a Vietnamese unit as an advisor to its chief officer.

After graduating from Acadian High School in 1955, he attended West Point where he graduated in 1960.

Since he received his orders in January he has been training for his Vietnam assignment.

AT FORT BRAGG he went through an extensive course in guerrilla warfare.

Danforth is now taking a 12-week course in Vietnamese at the Monterey Language School.

The language is being taught by direct association as compared to the conventional method of translation from English to the foreign tongue.

He lives at the language school on weekdays.

When the soldier comes home and greets his wife with "Chow," Mrs. Danforth knows that it is not a demand for dinner, but merely Vietnamese for "Hello."

Mrs. Danforth is the former Doris Northway of 3856 Sherman Drive, Peasant Hill.

THE DANFORTHS have two children, Bill, two, and Kathy, nine months.

Danforth is following his father's footsteps in pursuing a military career.

Warren Danforth is a colonel in the reserves. He was a transport officer during World War II in the European theatre.

The soldier's mother is the president of the Lafayette Women's Club.

He has a married sister and a brother, John, who will be a senior at Del Valle next fall.

The West Point graduate says of his upcoming assignment, "I

Vets, Families To Get More Compensation

Certain veterans and veterans' dependents will receive larger compensation checks or dependency and indemnity compensation checks around August, according to Contra Costa County service officer William Smaker.

These increased checks are due to actions taken by Congress during the past spring.

THE VETERANS affected are those who have service-incurred deafness of both ears with absence of air, bone conduction and those who have service-incurred loss of speech.

Both of these classes will receive check amounts increased by $47.

Veterans' dependents affected, according to Smaker, are eligible parents and children of veterans who have died of service-connected causes.

The rate of dependency and indemnity compensation payable to widows is geared to basic service pay. As the service pay is increased, the widows' rates are automatically increased.

Contrast Colors Liven the Garden

You see gardens occasionally in which monotony reigns as king. They are green, green and more green, without a single annual or shrub to pick things up with their bloom.

One wonders in such cases who the gardener is that keeps such a plot of greenery and where is his aesthetic sense. Doesn't he feel like screaming for some bright colors when he looks into his garden—if he ever looks into the garden?

NOW THERE'S nothing wrong with an all evergreen garden, if a man lacks time to putter with such niceties as annuals and perennials, but let's plant evergreens with some color to them . . . maybe even some that occasionally bloom. You can find any number of shrubs which give you colorful blossoms and demand no attention in return. Like oleander, maybe, or rock-roses. A local member of the California Association of Nurserymen can show you many other low-maintenance or no-maintenance shrubs.

But back to the idea of contrasting colors from evergreen foliage alone. As you can see when you visit any CAN nursery, there is a great diversity in the color of "evergreen" foliage. Some of it is on the red-dish or purple side.

Some is blue-gray in tone and some is silvery gray. Here's the making of some interesting color contrasts whether we have much bloom or not. And if you stretch the point to include a deciduous shrub or two, you have even more variety.

GARDENERS who will carry this idea of contrasting colors into all phases of gardening. In the border, they will pair a red Japanese maple off against the blue-green of a dwarf conifer such as white silver king juniper. Or on a larger scale, they will plant a gray-green pine-apple guava next to a purple hopseed bush.

In the flowered border they contrast the blue lily of the Nile with some fiery red hot pokers, blue violas with yellow violas, white stock with pink snapdragons—always on the lookout for pleasing color combinations.

SUCH PRACTICE adds interest not only to the garden but to gardening, for the planning itself becomes intriguing. One gets as much pleasure out of seeking new contrasts as he does out of actually seeing them in the completed stage of use in the garden.

For the benefit of those who would try their hand at this garden game, the CAN offers the following list of shrubs and plants which give you color in their foliage alone:

FOR GRAY TONES try the old-fashioned English lavender with its fragrant spikes of lavender bloom. Of try bush germander, either as an individual shrub in the border or as a silvery-gray hedge. On a sunny bank, in a hanging container, the trailing Bertholoti lotus adds a nice gray pattern of refined foliage, and for tall backgrounds, the olive tree is about as gray as any tree can be. Other possibilities: Dusty miller, artemesia, rosemary or silverleaf cotoneaster. You'll find many others which border on gray, but these are outstanding.

For red or purple tones, we've already mentioned two—red Japanese maples and the purple hoppedseed bush. Try also fibrous begonias, which combine well, incidentally, with dusty miller, and ruby glow petosperum, a member of the tea tree family with striking purple stems and purple-red flowers. The showy hebe or veronica, if you prefer, has an overall purplish cast to it which derives from the purple veins in the leaves. Japanese plums, of course, add big splashes of purple foliage to California gardens.

GARDENERS should guard against planting too much in the way of colored foliage plants, for after all, green is the basic color of nature. Here and there, however, they break the monotony and add more interest to the landscape.

Big Art Plans at Fair

Visitors to the Contra Costa County Fair, to be held July 31 through August 4 at the fairgrounds at Antioch will be able to cast their vote and help select the most popular painting at the 1963 fair.

A feature of the annual fair will be the art show, which gives the local artists, and bona fide members of recognized art associations whose headquarters are within the county, an opportunity to exhibit their handiwork and skill to the thousands attending the five day fair.

Chairman of Exhibits for the 1963 Art Show is Mr. Norma Martinetti of Pittsburg, who will be assisted by members of the Delta Art Association in the list monitoring of the show during the fair hours.

THERE ARE no entry fees, and artists who work in any medium of watercolor, ceramics, oil, sculpture, mosaics, decorative arts, sandcasting, etc. are invited to exhibit their works in this year's biggest art show.

If last year's entries are any indication of the interest in such a show, a large number of paintings are expected; and artists are urged to file on the official entry form by July 17.

Children from throughout the county are urged to exhibit their crafts, in a new section of the children's division which was added to this year's premium list. High school students of painting, drawing or graphic arts are also invited to exhibit their works in the competition, with awards given for first, second, third or fourth place.

Rules of entry are simple and may be obtained from the fair office, P.O. Box 25, Antioch.

Only three major changes have been made for this year's Fair Art Show:

NOT MORE than two works may be entered by any one exhibitor; special division for high school students has been added; special crafts division for children under age 12 years has been added.

Mildew Removed

How do you remove mildew? As soon as you see mildew on your clothing or upholstered furniture, brush it off—before it has a chance to weaken or rot the material. Then sun and air the fabrics thoroughly. If mildew spots remain, wash the garments immediately in hot sudsy water.

Rinse well and dry in the sun. For stains that persist, use bleach with lemon juice and salt, sodium perborate (available at grocery stores), or a dilute solution of sodium hypochlorite or other household chlorine bleach.

Take upholstered articles, mattresses, rugs and carpets outdoors and brush thoroughly. Vacuum them carefully to draw out all of the mold. Use an electric heater and a fan to carry away moist air.

IF MILDEW persists, sponge lightly with thick suds of soap or detergent and wipe with a clean, damp cloth.

Sponge mildewed rugs and carpets with soap suds or a rug shampoo. Dry in the sun if possible. Use a low-pressure spray containing a fungicide to get rid of musty odors.

Funds to Go to Training Dogs

Ron Allbee, chairman of the community service program of the Oakland-East Bay Life Underwriters, will sponsor a fundraising program this year for Guide Dogs for the Blind of San Rafael.

Last year they sponsored K.O. Polio.

Allbee stated that the program will be headed by Jack Gaines and Al Bansavage.

BANSVAGE was a football player with the Oakland Raiders.

Morrison is Guest Speaker

"Future of Suburbia" was the speech topic of Harry L. Morrison Jr. at the Monday meeting of the Contra Costa Real Estate Board.

Morrison is the president and chairman of the board of Lafayette Federal Savings and Loan Association; president and chairman of the board of Mt. Diablo First National Bank, a professor of public administration at St. Mary's College, a director of the Contra Costa Taxpayers Association and a director of the Bay Area Rapid Transit District.

Rail Transit Is Answer, Says Institute President

CHICAGO, ILL. — Recent "demonstration" grants by the federal government of nearly $12,000,000 to assist cities in the research and planning for modern rapid transit systems were cited last week by a nationally prominent expert as evidence of a growing desire by metropolitan areas to improve mass transportation facilities.

The Walnut Creek to Concord BARTD "test" line received $4,888,000.

"Here is real proof of the intense interest among our major American cities in modern rail transit facilities as the most effective means for the mass movement of people in congested urban centers," asserted Walter J. McCarter, president of the Institute for Rapid Transit, a nonprofit industry organization.

"The fact that cities and other local governments had to pledge nearly $6,000,000 of their own money as one-third matching funds to qualify for the federal 'demonstration' grants is conclusive evidence of the public desire and need for more and better rapid transit facilities," said McCarter, who also is general manager of the Chicago Transit Authority.

THE RECENT federal government "demonstration" grants totaling nearly $12,000,000 included three grants for the large New York metropolitan area, and one grant each for the San Francisco, Philadelphia and Pittsburgh areas.

With the granting of $3,185,000 to New York City on June 27, Robert C. Weaver, the federal housing administrator, announced that all funds authorized in 1961 federal legislation for "demonstration" grants for urban transportation were now exhausted.

"This exhaustion of the 1961 demonstration grant funds, along with a need for federal assistance to build new transit facilities, makes it all the more important that Congress enact the 1963 Mass Transportation Act," said McCarter.

"By no means would the 1963 Mass Transportation Act be a give-away program. To qualify for federal assistance, cities and metropolitan areas would have to provide one-third matching funds from local governmental sources," McCarter said.

The United States Senate already has passed its version of the 1963 Mass Transportation Act, and the legislation now is pending in the House.

As proposed by President Kennedy's administration, the 1963 Mass Transportation Act would authorize $500,000,000 in federal grants over a three-year period to pay for up to two-thirds of the net cost of transit improvements.

It also would provide funds for loans and continued research and demonstration projects.

McCARTER GAVE the following summary of the "demonstration" projects for rapid transit for which the federal government recently granted approximately $12,000,000 under the now exhausted 1961 appropriation:

(1) San Francisco Bay Area Rapid Transit District

(BARTD): A federal grant of $4,886,000 and local matching funds of $2,443,000 for an extensive series of track and equipment tests involving new concepts in rapid transit design, construction, and operation. The tests are preparatory to the creation in three counties of the San Francisco bay area of an entirely new rapid transit system for which voters last fall approved a local property tax supported bond issue of $792,000,000.

(2) New York City: A federal grant of $3,185,000 and local matching funds of $1,592,500 for a multi-purpose research program involving both suburban and urban transit systems in the boroughs of Manhattan, Queens and Brooklyn and Nassau county on Long Island.

(3) Tri-State Transportation

Committee of New York, New Jersey and Connecticut: A federal grant of $1,299,087 and local funds of $649,544 for experimenting with new rush-hour and nonrush-hour service and other changes on the commuter rail route of the New York Central railroad serving an "outer ring" suburban area which begins at White Plains in Westchester county and ends at Brewster in adjoining Putnam county.

(4) Tri-State Transportation Committee: A federal grant of $181,426 and local funds of $90,714 for automatic fare collection research aimed at speeding passenger flow and effecting economies on the Long Island Railroad.

(5) SOUTHEASTERN PENNSYLVANIA Transportation Compact: A federal grant of $291, 667 and local matching funds of $145,833 for a mass transportation study to develop techniques and procedures for a step-by-step program to improve commuter rail and other public transportation service in an area covering the city of Philadelphia and Bucks, Chester and Montgomery counties.

(6) Pittsburgh: A federal grant of $2,113,000 and matching funds of $1,056,500 for testing a new type of "Sky-Bus" rapid transit system designed specifically to provide mass transportation service in medium density urban areas. The matching funds are being provided by the Port Authority of Allegheny, the Westinghouse Electric Corporation, which will build the test system, and a number of private companies interested in further development of such facilities. Three small electronically operated test cars will run on a specially constructed one-mile experimental section of double-track elevated concrete structure, with station and turning loops at each end.

AF Cadet Gets 'The Treatment'

Air Force Cadet Third Class Douglas A. McKinley, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. McKinley of 932 Forest Lane, Alamo, was among more than 200 Air Force Academy cadets who underwent an indoctrination cruise aboard the attack aircraft carrier USS Midway June 9 through 16 off the coast of California.

Officially known as "Falcon 63," the group was the first from the Colorado Springs Air Force Academy to board the Navy carrier for indoctrination training at sea.

The cadets were sent to the ship under a new Defense Department policy designed to familiarize Army, Navy and Air Force officers and cadets with the duties, operations and requirements of the other services.

During their week aboard the Midway, the Air Force cadets received an extensive lecture and tour of every department on the ship.

This included all major spaces throughout the Midway and a look at air operations, with practical indoctrination supplied by two-hour watches in Combat Information Center and on the bridge.

In addition, many of them were either high-lined or flown by helicopter to a destroyer escorting the carrier for a day aboard the smaller ship.

This rounded out the indoctrination program and gave the cadets a full view of sea duty.
